

Acts to Raise Oil Supply, Cut Prices

Nixon Starts Anti-Inflation Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a bold attempt to roll back gasoline and oil prices and an ultimatum on construction costs, President Nixon has launched the toughest anti-inflation drive of his administration.

Not only did Nixon announce direct government action Friday night to force down the price of crude oil, but he issued a warning to all industry and labor against betting on future inflation.

Criticizing this year's big wage increases in the construction industry, Nixon offered this ultimatum:

"Unless the industry wants government to intervene in wage negotiations on federal projects to protect the public interest, the moment is here for labor and management to make their own reforms."

In his speech to the National Association of Manufacturers in New York the President took up a new economic strategy long held in disfavor by his economic advisers—using the power of his office directly to push down a specific price increase he considers inflationary.

Nixon was interrupted by applause only once by the business executives. The President noted some businessmen are concerned because their children are saying: "Business is not for me—I don't want to get in the rat race, I want to help other people."

"Nothing has done more to help people in this country and people throughout the world than the private economic system," he said to bring on the only applause of the night.

Whether his administration will go further in "jawboning" business and labor was not disclosed in his speech. But Nixon used his toughest language to date in his anti-inflation drive.

"This is the moment for labor and management to stop freezing into wage settlement and price actions any expectation that inflation will continue in the future at its peak rate of the past," he said.

"Any wage or price decision that makes the flat and irreversible assumption of a high rate of inflation ahead is against the public interest and against the real interest of the working man."

He added: "This is also the moment, with productivity newly on the rise, for business to take a hard new look at its pricing policies, and to pass along to the consumer its savings in production costs."

Nixon said his bid to roll back the 25-cent-per-barrel increase in oil prices—and the resulting gasoline price hike—is not a move toward government wage and price controls.

"On the contrary," he said, "these are moves away from the kind of government controls that cause artificial market shortages."

Nixon overrode present state restrictions on oil production on federal offshore leases and permitted oil importers to use now-idle import quotas for cheaper Canadian oil.

In the construction industry, he called for reform of the industry's bargaining process, saying consolidated or regional bargaining is needed.

"When construction wage settlements are more than double the national average for all manufacturing, at a time when many construction workers are out of work, then something is basically wrong with that industry's bargaining process," he said.

"As it is now, the craft-by-craft, city-by-city pattern only guarantees instability."

Nixon said he has ordered a federally sponsored commission "to take the initiative in working out these changes with leaders of management and labor." And if legislation is needed, he said, it will be proposed.

Nixon thus went beyond White House use of "jawboning," the pressure-by-publicity technique to curb wage and price increases. But he stopped short of endorsing the wage and price guideline approach used by his Democratic predecessors.

The President contended the worst of the inflation is over and said the price for it has been unemployment.

The speech came on a day the Labor Department announced the unemployment rate jumped from 5.6 per cent in September to 5.8 per cent in October, worst unemployment level in 7½ years.

While Nixon blamed part of the unemployment rate on effects of the auto strike, he said, "I believe we can and must do better."

Officials of two states and an industry spokesman doubt that the President's plans to increase petroleum supplies and lower retail prices will be very successful.

Kenneth Montague, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, which represents oil companies and independent producers, said in Houston, "Presidential strong-arming of the industry today will bring shortages of gasoline and fuel oil tomorrow."

He, Louisiana Conservation Commissioner J.M. "Pete" Meneff and Texas Railroad Commissioner James Langdon asserted that wells in their areas were near capacity production now.

Oil company officials either declined immediate comment or were unreachable.

Thruway Murder Suspect in Ulster County Jail

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON John Parker of Mahwah, N.J., is being held without bail in the Ulster County Jail today on a charge of first degree murder.

An intensive and sophisticated investigation by police authorities from New York, New Jersey and Ohio was wrapped up yesterday with the arrest of Parker in a Cleveland, Ohio YMCA building. Parker surrendered "without incident."

The heavy set, bearded 30-year-old Parker had been sought for several days in connection with an alleged murder on the New York State Thruway near New Paltz on Oct. 27.

He was arraigned early today on the murder charge before Town of Ulster Justice Arthur A. Reilly. He was then committed to the Ulster County Jail without bail pending a preliminary hearing scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 9 at 2 p.m. before Justice Reilly.

A murder warrant for Parker's arrest was first issued by Reilly on Dec. 2, accusing him of shooting a 20-year-old New Jersey gas station attendant to death on the Thruway near New Paltz.

An all-state alarm was issued for Parker's apprehension last Wednesday. The following day, police traced Parker to the rugged Ramapo Mountains near the New Jersey-New York State border. An intensive manhunt, complete with bloodhounds and a helicopter, was put into motion but Parker eluded police.

At the time it was believed that Parker was hiding in a cave in the mountains and reportedly armed with two .45 caliber pistols and 300 rounds of ammunition.

On Friday, Rockland County District Attorney Robert Meehan received a phone call from a man who identified himself as a friend of Parker's. He told Meehan that Parker had phoned him from Cleveland, Ohio and indicated that he was willing to surrender to authorities.

Police believe that Parker hitch-hiked from the Ramapo Mountain area to Cleveland, during the week.

Meehan, along with an investigator from the Rockland County D. A.'s office and BCI Senior Investigator Charles Teelon flew to Cleveland and arrested Parker at a YMCA building there. He offered no resistance. It was further noted that the man was "unarmed" and "penniless."

Parker was returned to State Police authorities in Kingston at about 10 p. m. Friday, after arraignment as a fugitive from justice before Cleveland Municipal Judge Fred M. Coleman. He waived an extradition hearing.

Senior BCI Investigator Edward Shannon of the Kingston Zone Headquarters of State Police said today that the investigation was brought to a "successful conclusion through the excellent cooperation and police work of the Mahwah Police Department and the Bergen County (N.J.) Prosecutor's Office." Shannon termed their investigative work, "unexcelled."

Meehan, meanwhile, indicated that his office would pursue kidnapping charges against Parker.

Parker is accused of abducting Gordon Scharranberg of Park Ridge, N. J., from a Sloatsburgh (Rockland County) service station. Police further alleged that Parker drove the captive to the New York State Thruway to New Paltz, where he then shot Scharranberg to death.

Also accused in the murder of Scharranberg is 22-year-old Helen Acker of Mahwah. Police say she drove the vehicle used in the abduction of Scharranberg.

Miss Acker was picked up by New Jersey authorities as a material witness in the slaying of another gas station attendant identified as 26-year-old Michael McGraw of Pottstown. She is being held by Mahwah police authorities pending extradition to face the murder charge along with Parker. Parker is also wanted for questioning in connection with the McGraw murder.

James Mott, 22, of Mahwah was formally charged with McGraw's death on Tuesday. Authorities suspect that all three took part in the McGraw slaying. Mott has not been connected to the Scharranberg murder.

Great British Truck Robbery, Masked Men Get Gold, Jewels

LONDON (AP) — Britain's air and sea ports were on maximum alert and a massive hunt was under way by Scotland Yard today for three masked bandits who stole $254,000 worth of gold and diamonds from an airline truck in the middle of London.

A spokesman for KLM Royal Dutch Airlines said he believed it was the biggest robbery ever staged against his company. He said the gold bullion and diamonds were being shipped by several clients in the London area and were on their way to Heathrow Airport for shipment to several clients in Amsterdam.

"It must have been a brilliantly planned operation, and it worked perfectly," he said. "Our vans always take different truck was carrying such a valuable load. The means and times of moving such cargo are normally closely guarded secrets.

The thing that puzzled Scotland Yard most was how the robbers found out that the KLM

Detectives were also handicapped by inadequate descriptions of the bandits. The robbery took place in the middle of the rush hour Friday night and was over too quickly for the details to register with witnesses.

The three robbers, wielding a sawed-off shotgun and a revolver, struck underground—in the Piccadilly Highway underpass beneath Hyde Park Corner, just outside the back wall of Buckingham Palace.

The robbery went off like clockwork at a time when the road was packed with homeward-bound commuters. Several hours later, the KLM Police said they believed the men freed themselves and notified the police.

The captured truck was then driven to an abandoned warehouse where the gunmen unloaded its $240,000 worth of gold and $14,400 worth of diamonds and other getaways.

The robbers jumped out of their vehicles, climbed into the KLM truck, tied and bound the driver and security guard, and drove away with them in the KLM van.

The three December dates were originally planned as examination days. The fall semester was scheduled to end on Dec. 17, with exams being held from Dec. 18 through Dec. 23.

Under the revised schedule, the Christmas recess will begin after classes end Dec. 23. Classes will resume Monday, Jan. 4 and will run through Friday, Jan. 8. Final exams will begin Monday, Jan. 11 and run through Jan. 15, with Sat., Jan. 16 set aside as an alternate exam day.

Erbstein said that the fall semester is being extended to give students an opportunity to have a full semester of educational classes. He added, "The semester extension until Jan. 15 was designed to insure that the students of the college would receive the number of instructional hours that the original schedule allocated."

Aware that the extension of the semester may inconvenience some students who had planned to work during that fall semester is not intended to period, Erbstein noted accommodations can be made for students "who indicate special needs or hardships." "It must be understood," said Erbstein, "that flexibility exists. The rebe rigid for any individual student."

With the fall semester being extended, the start of Winterlode, a planned intercession, will be delayed. The intercession was set up to enable students to accelerate their college program or to lighten the number of courses they will have to take in a regular semester.

Registration of Winterlode, 1971, will be held Monday, Jan. 11. Classes begin the following day and will continue through Thursday, Feb. 4. Examinations will be held Feb. 5. Registration for spring semester will be held Feb. 4, 5 and 6 with classes starting Monday, Feb. 8.

Speculation that the county would abandon its contempt action against the teachers ended abruptly Friday when County Attorney Abranience some students who had planned to work during that fall semester is not intended to Earlier, Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago told The Freeman that the county had no choice but to continue its court action against the teachers. "We can't withdraw the citations now," said Savago. The teachers will appear before Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn on Dec. 29.

The Idea Was to Move Traffic on the Rondout Bridge

Traffic seems backed up as usual on the Rondout Bridge heading into Kingston during the rush hour on Friday. Mayor Francis R. Koenig had issued an executive order on Wednesday forbidding left turns into Abel Street hoping to alleviate traffic jams. The situation has improved somewhat but is still a serious problem, according to city officials. Motorists wishing to turn left off Wurts Street now have to use either East Union Street or Hunter Street, up the hill. Sign on the right gives motorists early warning. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Christmas Not a Holy Day

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

Every year about this time, church people start talking up the need to "keep Christ in Christmas."

But the perennial campaign never seems to have much impact on the way the holiday season is celebrated.

The question arises whether it's really possible to commemorate Jesus Christ in the kind of atmosphere that prevails in America at Christmas time.

Jesus lived a life of great simplicity, humility and self-denial. He was concerned with people, and cared very little for things. He loathed ostentation. He thought it a vain and stupid thing to try to make a good impression on others.

How can we pretend that His birthday is being honored by an annual orgy of extravagant spending and luxurious self-indulgence?

This is not to suggest that Christmas be abolished. That would be a cruel blow to retail merchants, who count on Christmas shoppers for 25 percent of their annual sales and up to 80 percent of their annual profits.

Christmas also is useful for social and cultural purposes. It's a fine time for parties ... family reunions ... school vacations ... shows ... concerts. In short, Christmas can be a lot of fun, and it would take a very any occasion of merriment.

Perhaps we can go a bit further. To the extent that Christmas prompts people to make gestures of affection, kindness and remembrance toward each other, it may even be said to serve a Christian purpose.

But a holy day it is not, and there's no use trying to maintain the myth that it is.

If we learn to look at Christmas realistically as a folk festival, instead of trying to sentimentalize it by dragging in the Baby Jesus as a pious afterthought, we will be free to ask ourselves whether we really wish—or whether we have a moral right—to spend as much as we do keeping up the costly customs that have grown up around this holiday season.

Have you ever stopped to figure how much you lay out each year for Christmas gifts, Christmas cards, Christmas decorations, Christmas foods and other things that unexamin believe we must buy, wrap, send, hand and eat in order to do homage to a man who

Or have you ever composed your Christmas spending with the amount you give throughout the entire year to agencies which feed the poor, house the homeless, clothe the naked, and minister to the sick? Can anyone seriously argue that the former outlay is a greater tribute to Jesus than the latter?

Want you do about it is up to you. As for me and my house, we've talked it over and have decided to quit squandering money we can't afford on gifts, Christmas cards, Christmas foods we don't need in order to show what we already know: That we love each other.

Yost Quitting Position As Delegate to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — Charles W. Yost is quitting as the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations after this session of the General Assembly, according to a high-ranking source in the delegation. His resignation has been expected since word leaked out three weeks ago that he was being replaced.

The session ends Dec. 15, and Yost will make his announcement shortly thereafter, the source said.

Newspapers in Washington, Boston and New York reported last month that President Nixon planned to replace Yost with Daniel P. Moynihan, a White House advisor, and that Moynihan had accepted the appointment. The White House never confirmed the move, but Moynihan wrote a letter to the President saying he was returning to Harvard University, from which he had gone on a leave of absence for his White House job.

"I shall continue to be at your service," Moynihan wrote to Nixon, "but he added that for anything that you might want that I might be able to provide," his original commitment to the president was for two years.

Both Yost and Moynihan took their government posts in January 1968.

The reports that Yost was being replaced came as a surprise to the 63-year-old career diplomat, who served as No. 2 man in the U.S. Mission to the United Nations under Ambassadors Arthur J. Goldberg and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Moynihan reportedly turned down the appointment because Yost wasn't informed before the change was published. "It seemed to me that somebody had to make amends that it had to be me," Moynihan was quoted as telling the Washington Star.

Yost's impending retirement was reported Friday night after Nixon declined an invitation to party in the Ambassador's apartment in the Waldorf Tower.

The president was in New York to speak to the National Association of Manufacturers in the Waldorf ballroom.

Yost has been associated with the United Nations intermittently since its founding in 1945. He participated in the Dunbarton Oaks conference at San Francisco that set up the world body, was political advisor to the U.N. General Assembly in 1964 and returned to the United Nations in 1961. He retired in 1966, then came back at Nixon's request in 1968.

He has served 35 years with the U.S. State Department and is one of a handful of career party in the Ambassador's apartment in the Waldorf Tower.

Official Opening For Sawkill Bridge

The recently constructed Powder Mill Bridge at Sawkill in the Town of Kingston, will be officially opened to traffic at a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Officiating will be County Legislator Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye (R-2nd District) and the other legislators representing the Second District, Richard D. Nace, Lester C. Elmendorf, Lewis Hall and S. Robert Kelder.

The $116,000 span actually opened to traffic two weeks ago, when the work was completed. The bridge is a two-lane span of steel and concrete in contrast to the old iron and plank roadbed which it replaced.

Legislator Dye had been working on the project for about six years. The new span is about 50 feet upstream from the site of the old iron truss bridge across the Sawkill Creek.

County officials and town officials including Town of Kingston will participate in the ceremonies.

Cab Drivers Strike In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The familiar yellow-painted taxis that usually crowd the streets of the city virtually vanished today after 36,000 cab drivers went on strike at midnight.

Airline travelers, tourists, theatergoers and many others faced journeys — some of them difficult and inconvenient — by bus, subway, private vehicle or foot.

An early settlement was not expected and the full effects of the strike were likely to be felt Monday by thousands of commuters. Taxicabs are regarded in the city — with 800,000 daily users — as an integral part of the transportation system.

The drivers' old contract, which expired Nov. 16, was extended on an hour-by-hour basis as negotiations continued between representatives of the fleet owners and Taxi Drivers Union 3036. The drivers, who average $150 a week, seek raises bringing them into line with subway and bus workers' $175-$200 scales.

"We're tired of working two weeks for a week's pay," said William Rudin as he wheeled his cab into a garage after the midnight strike deadline.

The drivers set up picket lines around garages, where they were watched by police details.

The strike by the union drivers affects 6,816 fleet owned cabs. A further 4,963 owner-drivers were expected to honor the strike.

The taxi fleets, said they grossed some $165 million last year but wound up $7 million in the red. Both they and the drivers have sought City Council authorization for a steep increase in fares, which the owners say is needed to pay the higher wages.

The victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Occhipinti said that the bow and arrow belonged to Ronald and that he had been refused a request for a larger one as a Christmas present.

Suffolk County police said that they found Ronald Occhipinti in the underbrush with the arrow embedded four inches in his skull.

His companion, also 14, told police that he fired from a distance of 60 feet after he heard what he thought was a rabbit scurrying through the bushes at the top of a hill.

The boy ran to a nearby factory to get help when he discovered that the arrow had struck his friend.

Ellenville Quintet Triumphs Over Coleman

RUGGED REBOUNDER — Ellenville High School's Eric Krieger (43) complete with hair band, goes up in front of Coleman cager Dan Mills during action last night at the Statesmen gym. By IRA FUSFIELD

KINGSTON If the Coleman High School basketball team is going to win ball games this year it will have to be by aggressively pressing the other team into mistakes. A small squad, the Statesmen must overcome this deficiency with heads up play.

Against Ellenville here Friday night Coleman forced a Blue Devil outfit into making enough costly errors to enable the home side to win. Unfortunately for Coach Bill DuBois, the Statesmen made more miscues and lost, 60-54.

"We pulled every mistake in the book," DuBois commented. The Coleman mentor explained that he thought his aggregation could beat Ellenville, despite knowledge of the Ellies opening win over New Paltz, and his feeling was further amplified when the visitors went into a 2-1-2 zone defense, something he'd been drilling his team on. But Coleman threw the ball away constantly, took many wild shots, and, according to statistics, lost the ball 42 times in all.

The young Statesmen team looked to senior Don Hastings for leadership and he gave it to them, scoring 31 points and providing the initiative with hard nosed play. However, when Hastings was needed most, in the crucial final moments with the result in doubt, his mates forgot to get the ball to him. Hastings, taking a variety of shots through forcing some of the first half before finally getting hot, was the only Coleman player in double figures.

For awhile it looked like Coleman wasn't going to score any points this season. Nearly half of the first quarter was by the boards when Hastings hit a free throw and followed with a jump shot. But Ellenville was netting only six during that time and looked nothing like a team that to them, scoring 31 points and providing the initiative with hard nosed play. However, when Hastings was needed most, in the crucial final moments with the result in doubt, his press was telling on the Blue Devils. Before long Coleman had upped its lead to seven. It never grew any larger as the errors started coming in earnest.

It took Ellenville about two minutes into the final stanza to even things up, and, boosted by the shooting of Geoff Walsh, eventually go ahead to stay.

50-49, Coleman had plenty of chances before the end but never did capitalize.

The one plus in Coleman's favor is that it was their first game and the mistakes can be charged to that and the fact that the club is inexperienced.

"I think the kids will come," Dubois said when the disappointment, and annoyance, at the performance had subsided. Next on the Coleman calendar is a home game with Ontario on the chin, 67-49. Coach Les Lombardi's team played well for a half before the roof crumbled.

The big difference in the game was Onteora's dominance on the boards. Big Dan Smith pulled down 13 rebounds and Steve Frazier had seven in the second half.

Onteora also had a good night from the floor with Bush connecting on eight of 17 and Vlad BOICEVILLE

Onteora High School overcame a first Marlboro lead to defeat the Ducks, 66-52, in the UCAL basketball opener for both teams, Friday night.

Trailing by two points at the intermission, Onteora drew even and went ahead early in the third quarter on two hoops by Joe Bush. The buckets gave the Indians a 33-30 edge they never relinquished.

Marlboro moved to within four points in the final quarter on baskets by Rich Gerentine Hoyt pouring through six out of 12.

Coach Ron Pape chalked the victory up to team play: "It was a 100 per cent team effort."

Flyers Defeat California, 4-0

OAKLAND (UPI) — Four goals in the final period by Philadelphia and stellar goaltending by Bernie Parent gained the Flyers a 4-0 shutout Friday night over the California Golden Seals.

Following 40 minutes of scoreless play, Serge Bernier tipped in Jim Johnson's shot from the point 7:14 into the final period for the only goal he Flyers really needed. Then Gary Dornhoefer followed 2:03 later and Bill Lesuk scored again at 12:24.

Bob Kelly wrapped up the Philadelphia scoring at 1:42 as Parent gained his second shutout of the season.

The fourth-place Flyers moved to within one point of third-place Minnesota in the West Division of the National Hockey League. The seventh-place Seals suffered their second consecutive defeat and 10th in their last 12 games.

Bernier's goal was his 10th, tops on the Flyers.

Although there were 14 penalties whistled, all the goals came while the teams were at full strength.

This was the second time the Seals have been shut out this season. Chicago blanked the Flyers 9-0 two weeks ago.

Parent took over for Doug Favell in goal six games ago. Since then, the Flyers have posted a 3-3 record.

Three days before his bout with Argentina's Oscar Bonavena, Clay, who said, "I like to defy my critics, claimed he wasn't even tired after his workout and warned his trainer Angelo Dundee he might go six or seven rounds today.

"Eleven rounds might be work for somebody else, but it's my job to win," he said.

Clay, who is known as Muhammad Ali, boxed five rounds with his brother Rudy, four with Bunky Atkins and four with Bob Mashburn. After his sparring, Clay stepped on the scales and weighed 210 pounds, the same as he weighed following his workout Wednesday.

While Clay continued his preparations for Monday night's bout at Madison Square Garden, Bonavena concluded his drills at his camp upstate at Grossinger, N.Y. The Argentinean went three rounds, and afterwards, he weighed 208.

When Gil Clancy, Bonavena's American trainer, was informed of Clay's lengthy work so soon before fight time, he declared, "Clay's crazy. He's fighting Monday but he fought today. It's going to weaken him."

Clancy also serves as manager and trainer for former welterweight and middleweight champion Emile Griffith.

"Once in a while I might let Emile go six rounds three days before the fight," Clancy said, "but no more than that. I'm surprised that Angelo let him go that long."

Clay said he actually planned to go 15 rounds, but that his sparring partners were worn out.

Clancy said Bonavena would take it easy the next three days but before ending his last workout Bonavena predicted, "Clay will not fight again after he fights me. Win or lose, he's going to be down and he's going to get hurt."

Cliff Weeks, Glenn Berry, and Brad Liddle were missing when Ulster took the floor. The trio couldn't find their way to the Nassau gym in time for the opening tap and by the time they did arrive the first half was over. By then Mercer had taken a nine-point edge, 14-53.

Only George Civile and Rod Wilkinson of the planned starters were in the lineup. Coach Mike Perry completed the starting roster with Pat Harder, Bill McClelland, and Gary McDonald. The latter Harold Dedrick led the winners with 17 markers. Scott Martin hit 18; Wayne Rice and Dan Theberg each hit for 14; Tom Mabie added 11 markers and 14 rebounds.

"We out-hustled them all the way," said winning mentor Al Mallanda. "It was a good team effort. Draffon was really something, though," he added.

New Paltz Defeats Bushmen

By MORT LAFFIN

NEW PALTZ 50, in an Ulster County Athletic League tilt. Paced by the outstanding ball-hawking of guards Rick Pesavento and Ed Grainger, the winners ran out to a 51-32 lead at the end of the third quarter and then hung on as the Bushmen attempted an "11th hour" rally in the fourth quarter.

Pine Bush also employed a pressing defense that was sometimes man-to-man and sometimes zone, but couldn't cope with the overall pressure of the New Paltz quintet.

The visitors took an early lead, 6-2, in the first quarter. However, the New Paltz five, with baskets by Grainger, Big John Palonis and Jay Ackert took an 8-6 margin at 3:33 in the initial period and were never in trouble after that.

With Pesavento and Grainger doing much of the damage outside, the board men, Harold Anderson, Ackert and Palonis kept the winners on top with their scrappy play and box-out tactics. At one point Palonis, a very determined player, banged to the boards for three successive follow-up shots, finally dropping the ball through the hoop with three Bushmen hanging on as he went up for the last time.

The outside shooting of Tom Novak and the rebounding of Joe Edmunds kept Pine Bush in the game. But the pressure tactics of the winners were just too much for them to cope with.

New Paltz had a couple of the boys in foul trouble and had to go to the bench early in the second quarter. However, players like Brad Hart, Bob Kraus and Mike Fairweather left little to be desired by New Paltz mentor Frank Davis and the home-side fans.

With Pesavento hitting seven of nine straight markers by the winners in the opening minutes of the third period, New Paltz took a commanding 51-30 lead, outscoring the visitors, 21-10. Grainger was high man for the winners with 17 points while Jay Ackert added 14. Edmunds had 10 and Ken Papini tossed in 23 for the losers.

"I thought our defense was tremendous," said Davis after the game. "We did what we had to do. Our offense hasn't been as sharp as it should be. And this was especially true tonight. We forced a lot of turnovers. But there were times when we gave the ball right back without scoring. We'll get better; we're improving," he concluded.

New Paltz has a big game Tuesday as they travel to Stone Ridge to take on the Ganders of Rondout Valley. The game will be a UCAI contest. The New Paltz JV's won, 44-39. Gary Lardier had 13 points.

Vikings Picked Over Bears

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Minnesota will become the first team to enter the National Football League playoffs. St. Louis will solidify its hold on first place and Kansas City will break a tie with Oakland.

All that—it says here—will happen this weekend on a 13-game program that runs from Saturday to Monday. And whether it's believed or not depends on whether last week's 7-6 record tends to discourage.

At any rate, the season-long record still is a respectable 37-24-4 with only three weeks remaining. Here we go again:

SATURDAY

Minnesota 24, Chicago 13—There may be some question of Gary Cuozzo's effectiveness after spraining an ankle in Vikings' loss to New York Jets last week, but there shouldn't be any reason the Minnesota defenders can't win this almost by themselves.

SUNDAY

St. Louis 27, Detroit 24—Cardinals just might pull off the upset if Jim Hart can hit consistently. MacArthur Lane and Johnny Roland will get yardage on the ground for the National Conference East Leaders. But they'll have to watch Lions' quick Mel Farr on dashes to the outside.

Kansas City 31, Denver 17—The Chiefs, getting top form passing from Len Dawson, should be able to romp over the fading Broncos in their bid for the American Conference West title and a return trip to the Super Bowl. Broncos just don't seem to have it any more.

New York Jets 24, Oakland 21—Always a bitter battle, the pick here is the Jets, who have momentum with three straight victories. Combined with a Kansas City victory, that would drop the Raiders one game behind in the frantic Western race.

Los Angeles 35, New Orleans 14—The Rams' offense hasn't pulled off many fireworks recently but should be able to against an outmanned Saints' team, and it's not a bad opportunity for Coach George Allen to show off against the team he's been rumored heading for.

San Francisco 27, Atlanta 20—The 49ers will keep pace with the Rams in NFC West as John Brodie gets back on target against the Falcons. Atlanta has a rugged defense, but quarterback Bob Berry is erratic.

Baltimore 20, Philadelphia 17—The Colts seemed to have slipped since earlier in the season, but still should have enough left to handle the Eagles. Philadelphia lacks scoring punch.

Pittsburgh 27, Green Bay 17—Either Terry Bradshaw or Hanratty—capable of keeping the Steelers in first place in AFC Central against a Green Bay team that just isn't moving the ball.

San Diego 28, Cincinnati 21—The Bengals, however, will fall out of the three-way tie in the Central Division by bowing to the Chargers. Cincinnati can't handle the San Diego running like Kansas City did.

New York Giants 38, Buffalo 10—The Giants, still in the running in NFC East, should have a field day against an injury-riddled Bills' club. Ron Johnson should be able to run for 100.

Washington 27, Dallas 14—Here's a guess that the situation involving ace receiver Lance Rentzel has handicapped the Cowboys' preparation. Besides, Redskins' Sonny Jurgensen is always dangerous.

Miami 24, Boston 21—The Dolphins, coming off the Monday night game, may be a little sluggish but the Patriots are always a lot sluggish.

MONDAY

Cleveland 31, Houston 21—The Browns whipped the Oilers two weeks ago and are capable of doing it again, maintaining a hold on first place in AFC Central.

Highland Five Tops Walkkill

WALKKILL High School was fresh from its first basketball win in 33 games when the Big Blue from Highland came to town Friday night, but the streak ended as the Monroe brothers led the visitors to a 64-54 triumph.

It was the UCAI opener for both teams.

The Panthers had beaten Tri-Valley, 64-50, in a non-league affair last week to stop their monumental streak, and had upset in mind when they took the court against Highland. For two quarters it looked like an upset was just what would happen.

Led by the scoring talents of Bill McAfee, Walkkill took a 22-21 halftime advantage. But in the second half Ron and Perry Monroe started moving and Walkkill was left behind.

Perry had led the offense in Highland's opening win over Germantown, but this time Ron was the big threat. Tallying 10 field goals and an equal number from the floor, Ron hit for 30 points. Perry had 12.

Perry won another statistical battle however, by grabbing 28 rebounds to his brother's "mere" 25. While all this was going on, playmaker Carl Releya was picking up 10 assists.

McAfee led Walkkill with 26 points. "It was a scramble," said Highland Coach Dick Becker. "Walkkill is a pretty spunky team and McAfee is a great shooter; wherever he was, he hit."

Highland goes after another on Tuesday at home against Marlboro. Walkkill tangles with Pine Bush on the same night.

Carlos Duran Downs Bogs

ROME (UPI)—Tom Bogs of Denmark said today he wants another shot at Carlos Duran, the man who took away his European middleweight title late Friday. But Bogs said he doubted whether Duran would agree to a rematch.

"I'm ready to fight again," the 26-year-old Dane said. "I'm going to rest a while and wait to see if Duran is willing to meet me. I doubt it."

Bogs said he thought he won the 15-round decision, but referee Juan Risoto of Spain and two judges gave the nod to the Argentine-born Duran before 10,000 wildly cheering Romans.

There was speculation Bogs would move back into the light heavyweight ranks, where he ruled as European champion until he turned middleweight and beat Duran 14 months ago to win the continental crown. But Bogs scotched such talk.

"I am definitely going to stay middleweight," he said.

"I don't know what I'll do next," he added. "Just wait for a while. I don't want to fight (former middleweight champion) Nino Benvenuti or (reigning world titlist) Carlos Monzon. I want to get the European title back."

Bogs, making his first ring appearance outside Denmark and Sweden, said the Roman crowd—which booed him and hurled debris into the ring—did not bother him.

"Crowds are crowds," he said.

High Speed Chairlift, Slope Added at Davos

WOODRIDGE

A high speed double chairlift for a new area being re-cut for intermediate skiers, an extension of the Steak and Lobster Emporium to seat an additional 60 guests are some of the new highlights of the 1970-71 ski season at the Big Vanilla at Davos ski resort.

The chairlift is a Stadelli, which is manufactured in Switzerland and will be capable of carrying 1,000 skiers per hour. However, the new ski lift will be put on a no-waiting line schedule with a limit of 350 skiers per day permitted on the lift. The special no-wait lift tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

In announcing the new slope and chairlift, Alan Fleischman, vice president and executive director of the Davos resort complex, emphasized that it would eliminate waiting lines for the chairlifts and provide more time for skiers to enjoy the sport. Because of the limit being put on skiers, the cost of lift tickets will be increased slightly.

Dick Darnott will once again head up the Big Vanilla ski school, with Werner Kuhn presiding over the ski patrol. Darnott has announced a special program for youngsters that will include one hour of free instruction as part of a new ski nursery.

The nursery will last all day and allows parents the opportunity to ski without worry about their children.

The year-round vacation home development project, Davis in the Woods, adjacent to the ski area, is progressing quite rapidly and 35 homes are expected to be either completed or under construction by the first of December. All roads will be paved by winter, and all utilities have already been installed.

Other events that will be held throughout the year are the annual Big Vanilla ski races, a special charity ski program for underprivileged and handicapped children from the New York metropolitan area, and a contest to build the biggest snowman in the world, with special colleges.

Klaus Weber Suspended

Kickers Play Haledon Next

MORGAN HILL, following reason for Weber's Kingston Sport Club Kickers suspension: "Although the team Haledon Lyzeum Sport (title of the Kingston player, Club of New Jersey in an inter condemning fist fights in a division German-American sports arena, is highly commendable, the player himself Sunday, with several displayed poor taste and unplayable in the lineup and a sportsmanlike judgment toward former coach and star due to his teammates leaving them one miss the action because of a suspension. Game time is 2 p.m. at Oehler's Soccer Stadium.

The new players were not identified by Ingo Froehlich the club's public relations director, but the old hand is Klaus Weber, former coach, who was suspended for two games for talking off the field during a heavy melee between KSC and Bavarian players last Sunday. Simultaneously with the suspension of Weber, the Sport Club announced that a firm warning has been given to all first team players with respect to Sunday's game with Haledon. "Any of the Kingston players who either start or provoke a fight Sunday will be immediately removed from the game and suspended by the club," Froehlich warned.

The KSC's executive board dealt with the Weber incident at its regular weekly meeting Wednesday night. Weber was Brooklyn given the opportunity to appear Passaic before the board in his own College Point defense but declined.

The executive board gave the Bavarians a 0-5-4-4

Mecca of the Oppressed

The U.S. Coast Guard didn't know the meaning of the word "free" when it refused asylum to a seaman from a Russian ship who got down on his hands and knees and begged for freedom. An upset President Nixon has called for an investigation of this disgraceful action, a blot on American ideals.

Congress should follow suit. The echoes of a human being from a slave country pleading for our protection and being brutally brushed aside will not die easily.

This was an example of bureaucracy at its worst. Not only that but it was flagrant violation of the so-called Geneva Convention of 1951 which says that anyone seeking refuge from a country where his life or freedom would be threatened shall not be returned any manner whatsoever. Nothing could be much plainer than this Article 33 of the convention, and to which the U.S. thus makes a mockery of a tradition that has stood since the colonies won their freedom. Land of the free, we have always called ourselves, as we have welcomed to our shores and our borders those who have felt the heel of oppression in their native land. The 1951 agreement simply put into writing and supposedly made official what the U.S. had always practiced. Then comes a seaman who risked serious injury to himself by leaping across a ten-foot gap of water to what he thought was freedom.

The incident concerns only one man, perhaps a meagerly educated one. But simple person though he may be, he still knew—or thought he knew—that America was the mecca of the oppressed. There open arms would await anyone who asked asylum. Imagine the thoughts this man carried back with him to further hopelessness and perhaps worse.

Democratic Front-Runners

Having tasted blood in the last election, Democrats are pushing for their party's nomination for President with increased hopes that it will be meaningful. The list of possible candidates grows as adherents and the candidates themselves see hope for victory increasing.

Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine, the vice-presidential candidate of the losing 1968 ticket, is the current front-runner among eight men being mentioned seriously for the nomination, according to the most recent Gallup poll. But front-runners two years ahead of election have a way of fading at the showdown and therefore the standing of those who might overtake them is also of interest now.

Among rank and file party members, Muskie has a third of the vote but he is closely pushed by Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts. When it comes to the choice of all voters, however, irrespective of party, Muskie holds his advantage but Kennedy drops a third of the way down in percentages, showing that he is not as likely to be elected as he is to be nominated.

Senator-elect Hubert H. Humphrey, the 1968 Democratic standard bearer, is a good third. After him trail with only token followings, in this order: Senator Eugene McCarthy, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, Senator George McGovern of South Dakota and Senate Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. Some are more popular with the party rank and file than they are with the public at large, but among them they barely command as much of a following as Muskie or Kennedy does alone.

With so many Senators mentioned, the 92nd Congress opening next month is likely to be more political than effective. That could give Nixon the advantage.

Viet Cong Reveals Tactics

American intelligence has seized Viet Cong directives revealing that the eight-point peace proposal made in Paris was part of a diplomatic offensive designed to line up anti-war Americans, improve the Communist position on the battlefield and win the war militarily. Directive is dated September 17, the same day Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief of the Viet Cong peace delegation, put forward her eight-point peace proposals in Paris.

In the two months since the proposals were made, the outlook in this country has changed drastically. Instead of arousing greater anti-war pressure, the proposals were taken at face value, and the United States delegation has tried to negotiate over them and over the American proposals. The continuing withdrawal of American troops has dulled the Viet Cong effort to gain a propaganda victory. Except for way-out liberals, in and out of Congress, the conduct of the war has been applauded. Even students have quieted down and are satisfied with the winding-down of the war.

If the Viet Cong and their supporters, the North Vietnamese, want to gain tactical advantages, they will have to get down to serious negotiations soon. Otherwise, they may wake up to find South Vietnam so well trained and armed that it will continue the war indefinitely while the departed American forces leave the field to an aroused South Vietnam.

"Remember, No Arm-Twisting!"

David Lawrence Says Peace Movement Needed In All Continents of World

WASHINGTON — Twenty-five years have elapsed since the guns were silenced as World War II came to an end. But there is still no assurance of peace. In fact, the danger zones in Southeast Asia and the Middle East are only symbols of a world unrest — an almost universal fear of terrorism and guerrilla warfare motivated by terrorist groups that threaten the stability also of many countries in Africa and Latin America.

Europe is by no means free from apprehension. The ten European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have just told Defense Secretary Melvin Laird that they have agreed to add one billion dollars to their contributions to NATO defenses in the next five years, with West Germany bearing the biggest burden of the increase. Mr. Laird has declared that America doesn't intend to make any significant reductions in its manpower or combat strength in Europe. The unanswered question is why after 25 years the United States and the nations of Western Europe should feel it necessary to maintain a military organization to ward off a possible attack from Eastern Europe that could be initiated by the Soviet Union.

Commercial progress has been good in many parts of Europe, but it would have been even far greater if intercourse between eastern and western Europe were devoid of Communist domination. For, although there has been no war on the European continent, the possibility of a major conflict has never been out of the minds of the people in central and western Europe who have feared that sooner or later big armies from the east would invade their lands.

The United States maintains now about 300,000 troops on the European continent, and there is pressure from certain factions in Congress here to bring about the withdrawal of at least two and a half of the four and one-third divisions in Europe. But the military situation there is being given moral support by the United States in addition to the deployment of certain military units as, for instance, the strengthening of the U.S. sixth fleet in the Mediterranean.

One of the European countries is strong enough by itself or even in combination with its neighbors to withstand an attack from the Communists. What the United States is doing by its backing of NATO and the presence of its fleet in the Mediterranean may not be widely noted or discussed in this country, but it means a great deal to the Europeans.

There has been lots of discussion lately about the limitation of armament, and the talks with the Soviet Union have been expected to bring some halt in the expansion of military power, particularly in the field of nuclear and strategic arms. But the surprising thing is that there is and has been no crusade for peace. Such an effort could, if properly organized, reach the hearts and minds of people in all countries of the world, and would do more to reverse the trend toward another war than anything else. Ways are available for talking in the languages of all nations by radio — words which can be transmitted by the use of satellites and heard everywhere. Peoples could, in effect, talk to one another about the issues that keep them apart.

A peace movement is needed right now to win over the people of North Vietnam so that American prisoners can be released and progress can be made toward a settlement with the South Vietnamese.

A peace movement also is needed to assure the peoples of the Soviet Union that the United States has no unfriendly intent toward them. Their leaders could provide many benefits to their country if a cooperative effort toward peace were undertaken with the help of the American people. This could secure peace not merely in Europe and Asia but in all the continents of the world.

Nobody wants more wars, but there is very little action of a meaningful nature being taken to prevent the growth of the artificially stimulated hostile feelings which could bring a recurrence of the bloodshed and tragedies of 25 years ago.

Intelligence Organization Needed in North Vietnam

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The establishment of the type of ground intelligence organization in North Vietnam essential for success in bringing out prisoners of war is not the impossible task high officials believe it to be.

They have been discouraged by incredible blundering in past attempts to introduce agents into the north. Men have been dropped in by parachute. Even at night, this makes them easy targets, subject to quick capture. Others have gone in with insufficient training, inadequate cover stories to account for their sudden appearance in the north or short on northern friends and relatives to front for them.

In short, there has been too little preparation and too much gung ho (do it like the movies) spirit.

As a result, the agent network in the north, including that run by the South Vietnamese and other allies, is so fragmentary as to be inconsequential in the war.

Yet an adequate net is of vital importance for the war effort — not only for prisoner rescue but in a host of other ways as well.

It could provide: military, economic and political weaknesses; information on dissident groups within the population, the major causes and extent of popular dissent.

A flow of other military, political, economic transport and supply information essential to decision making in Saigon and Washington.

Our present knowledge in these areas is fragmentary, not the precise details necessary on which to base political and economic action or military decisions.

The lack of this knowledge is an open but unpublicized problem at the White House, the State Department and the Department of Defense.

A major problem in North Vietnam is the existence of a highly efficient system of counterespionage similar to that employed in Castro's Cuba, in Mao's Red China and in prewar Japan. Each small group of families (between five and 10) has one man or one family responsible for spying on all the rest, for reporting who comes and goes, and what strangers are present.

But this presents no in-

Jack Anderson Says

Gale McGee, Senate Winner, Won't Forgive Villifiers

WASHINGTON — American politics have sunk so low, in the opinion of Senator Gale McGee, D-Wyo., that he is trying to stir his colleagues into adopting reforms.

At a closed-door Democratic caucus, he called for a fair campaign code that would bar violators from the Senate. He also urged the victims of a scurrilous, election-eve GOP advertisement to join in a court test.

The smear ad, promoted by Republican national committeeman Carl Shopley with the backdoor connivance of White House aide Charles Colson, was used against six Democratic Senators. McGee said he would like to challenge the courts to set limits for libel in a political campaign.

Wyoming voters last month gave McGee a new six-year lease on his Senate seat. Having won re-election, he said, there was a temptation to forgive and forget campaign abuses. But he pleaded that only the election winners had the power to clean up political campaigns.

He hastened to remind his Democratic colleagues that smear tactics had been used by both sides and that Republicans had an equal stake in curtailing dirty politics.

For the good of the country, he urged, we must stop blackening our political leaders. Gutter campaigns not only discourage decent men from running for office, he said, but undermine public confidence in their leaders.

McGee would like candidates to be held responsible for the campaigns conducted in their behalf. The Senate should adopt a campaign code of ethics and refuse to seat anyone who violates it, he recommended.

Footnote: Television celebrity Mark Evans, whose name was signed to the Shipley ad, has written letters of apology to the Democratic Senators. He said the ad was drafted without his knowledge and his name was used without his permission.

Reply to Buckley
Waspish William Buckley, the columnist, has taken to his typewriter to defend his brother and his own financial interests.

He castigated this column for reporting that his brother, Senator-elect James Buckley, had campaigned as a conservationist at the same time the family firm sought to dredge up the limestone from the bottom of Florida's Lake Okechobee.

The Senator-to-be, meanwhile, has requested membership on the Senate Interior Committee, which has jurisdiction over such natural assets as Lake Okechobee.

Both brothers own a stake in Catawba Corporation whose affiliate, Coastal Caribbean, wants to rip up the lake's limestone bed. If Coastal Caribbean is permitted to exploit its 4.5 million acres of underwater rights in and around Florida, the Buckleys will collect enormous royalties.

The column-writing Buckley disputed our report that dredging the lake bottom would harm Florida's drinking water and wildlife. Here, however, is what the Army Engineers said about the project, as quoted by Federal Judge Clyde Atkins in a disapproving opinion:

"Issuance of the permit to Coastal Caribbean" would result in substantial harmful effect upon fish and wildlife resources, ecology, conservation and the water quality of Lake Okechobee."

The Army Engineers aren't exactly noted for their devotion to ecology. Conservationist groups, such as the Sierra Club and the Friends of the Earth, declared their opposition to the project in far stronger terms. The State of Florida also came out emphatically against the dredging.

Bill Buckley, thus isolated in his support of Coastal Caribbean, was invited to comment. "I didn't urge anyone to invest in Coastal," he said. "I accepted the challenge raised by you in your political rendition and replied to it." He said that, after all, it wasn't as if he had sprung to the defense of a bordello.

Footnote: The Buckleys have discovered still another way to capitalize on James' new position. Paid advertisements have suddenly appeared promoting brother Bill's magazine and latest book. The ads feature James Buckley's Pepsodent grin, identify him as a Senator though he hasn't yet been sworn in, and carry his signed statement urging constituents to fill in the $6.95 introductory coupon.

Headlines and Footnotes
FBI Story — This column has frequently used a sharp pencil on FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover who next month will be 76 and shows every inclination of staying on the job indefinitely. It would be a mistake, however, to ignore the superb job that Hoover has done in building the FBI into an extremely effective crime fighting unit. The cult of personality has had its positive aspects. When Hoover took over as director, the FBI was loaded with hacks, misfits, drunks and courthouse hangers-on. In a remarkably brief time, he transformed it into a close-knit, effective organization with an esprit de corps which exceeds that of the Marines. Under Hoover's regime, agents have been fired for subordination, even a few for homosexual behavior. Yet not a single FBI man has tried to fix a case, defraud the taxpayers or sell out his country.

and was America. Will Stanley J. Dembski's father and family please stand and take a salute from the United States?

Said Lieutenant Petrie, back from Sonatay: "I kept thinking about the fact that this mission was to save. . . to bring out the American prisoners, and it would be Thanksgiving. . . and I was thinking about what their faces will look like on the way back."

As always where trouble is, it is only the fact of death and suffering, including the ghastly torture of prisoners whose loved ones at home do not even know whether they are alive, that carries a meaning. Everything else seems so far away, just as Senators Fulbright, Kennedy and other spineless nose-counters seem so small.

When will we resume our great and undeniable march to destiny? Only when we in a roar of national respect, pride and approval honor the Petries and Dembskis, one and all, and clearly see by comparison how pitifully small the Fulbrights and the Kennedys really are who merely give lip service to bravery and honesty in and out of war.

Listen to Pfc. Stanley J. Dembski, killed by the North Vietnamese at Tuy Hoa. Two weeks earlier he wrote his father: "I don't think I'll make it. Pop. The platoon is too small, and we're not getting replacements fast enough. I'm now in a line platoon in an area where the V.C. sneak up on you."

Stanley said he was writing because he did not know if he would write again. "Tonight I'm going on patrol again. B company lost 22 men by a hidden machine gunner who didn't use three shots on any of them. My radio stopped a bullet. That was close. But please don't worry about me, Pop."

Henry J. Taylor Says

The POW Rescue Mission

Sen. J. William Fulbright and such seem so terribly small compared to the brave men who acted so selflessly to save their fellow Americans in the POW camp at Sonatay. And certainly you would think that the last conceivable person to pass judgement of any kind on that rescue mission would be Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

As a letter to Time magazine said after the Chappaquiddick bridge event: "While looking all over the country for people to save — blacks, whites, Puerto Ricans, the poor, Mexicans, Eskimos — Mr. Kennedy, when confronted with the opportunity to save a single but very real individual human, failed as a man. He was, in his own words 'paralyzed by grief, fear, doubt, exhaustion, panic, confusion and shock.'"

Mr. Kennedy's courage and his honesty were both a brittle layer — gone in an instant. Mr. Kennedy collapsed under the pressure like a damp doughnut, but then followed the coverup, long after he had plenty — plenty — of time to think. Although the Chappaquiddick accident occurred about midnight on July 18, 1969, Mr. Kennedy, 37, not only did not report it for 10 hours but did not plead guilty until July 25, a week later. And as late as September 3 all efforts to question the 10 men and women present in the Chappaquiddick cottage revealed only that each had been systematically instructed to impose total silence.

Listen, instead, to paratrooper 1st Lieut. George W. Petrie who was dropped into the Sonatay POW compound. Asked if he felt frightened in there, Lieutenant Petrie answered: "Frightened — it wasn't the kind of thing I felt. You don't think about that; you think about your duty. I was thinking about the job I had to do and looking to find how I could do it."

Lieutenant Petrie added: "In doing it you have to have total confidence in yourself and the people with you. There's no room for thinking about yourself. I knew about the possibility that we would find no American prisoners at Sonatay. I just forced it out of my mind."

Courage is a private thing. Perhaps it can be defined as doing what your conscience tells you has to be done, maybe with no notice whatever taken, but doing it, no matter how hard, or painful, or dangerous, because you believe that it is right.

Listen to Pfc. Stanley J. Dembski, killed by the North Vietnamese at Tuy Hoa. Two weeks earlier he wrote his father: "I don't think I'll make it. Pop. The platoon is too small, and we're not getting replacements fast enough. I'm now in a line platoon in an area where the V.C. sneak up on you."

'Tis the Season

Yuletide Projects Set

The calendar has pulled its final flip for the year 1970 and all of a sudden its only 20 more days until Christmas.

Holiday projects of all sorts are taking precedent at schools around the county.

Sounds of the Yuletide season will ring forth from the brilliant brasses and the dulcet reeds of the Highlander Band and from the enthusiastic voices of the Highland choristers when 140 students perform in the Highland School's annual Christmas Concert Thursday, Dec. 17 at 8:15 p.m. The high school auditorium will be the scene of the season presentation.

The high school chorus under the direction of Maynard Angel and the Highlander Band directed by Robert Turner will present musical offerings including the popular Try to Remember, Green Willow Christmas, What Child Is This as vocal offerings and The Children's March by Goldman and Christmas Rhapsody by the band. Old St. Nick will take a rocking trip instrumentally with a rock beat for traditional favorite.

The eighth grade chorus and the Choraleers will sing also. Final selection will be a combined choral and band selection Christmas Pastoral based on music by J. S. Bach.

The Kingston area junior high schools all have Christmas programs slated prior to the holiday recess on Dec. 23.

The Myron J. Michael School chorus will present Christmas selections at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night, Dec. 14, at the school. Rehearsals are underway in preparation for the Yuletide event.

A musical evening is planned at the M. Clifford Miller School, Lake Katrine too.

On Dec. 21, students will present a program by band, orchestra, chorus and musical theater group in keeping with the season to be jolly and reverent. Parents of course are invited.

A first is scheduled in conjunction with the J. Watson Bailey Schools holiday program. It has been learned from very good authority that the newly formed Bailey Rock Band will make its debut at the program to be given during school hours the last day before the long recess, Dec. 23. Their selections are expected to be festive in nature but not necessarily traditional.

More traditional selections are on the program however. Both the band and chorus will present the music of the season with both Christmas and Hanukkah favorites included.

Ballet will be included with the Christmas program at St. Joseph's School Monday, Dec. 21, at 7:30 p.m. The older students will present the Christmas story in ballet, narration and music by the Glee Club.

Included in the presentation will be recitation and song by the primary grades.

Ronald Mapstone's Industrial Arts Club at Rondout Valley Central High School is very busy these days at its annual toy repair project, one that promises to bring holiday cheer into the lives of many area children who might have little otherwise. All kinds of toys, in all states and conditions, are urgently needed to make the project a success. Area residents are asked to contribute old and/or unwanted toys to help club members out. Anyone having toy contributions may leave them at the high school, or call Mapstone at school or at home.

Upcoming events at New Paltz include the Senior Dramatics Club presentation of The Animal Farm. Performances will be given at the high school auditorium Friday, Dec. 18 and Saturday, December 19 with an 8 o'clock details will be announced as the play goes into final rehearsals. Festivities tonight at Red Hook Central High School may not be considered Christmas but they certainly are light-hearted and of a holiday mood.

An all-star Dixieland band will be the featured organization at a concert presented by the music department. The concert is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The high school band under the direction of Murray Van Ness will present a variety of show tunes and popular music in conjunction with the Dixieland group. Phoebe Swope will direct the choir for the second portion of the program in a light, varied presentation ranging from Simon and Garfunkel numbers to folk songs and medieval carols.

Guest musicians will appear during the first half of the program for the Dixieland Concert. The personnel of the group is as follows:

Clarinet, Hugh Aldrich; trumpet, Robert Cummings; tenor sax, Gus Van Ackoo; trombone, Gerald Conklin; bass, Budd Duntz; drums, Howard Smith; Piano, Robert Spallina.

Tickets are available at the door.

Youth in News — Travel Time

Foreign travels and new adventures highlight Youth In the News reports this week.

Jacqueline Quick, daughter of Mrs. Luwilda Ayers Quick of 8 Highland Avenue, Saugerties, left last week for a month's stay in Paris.

Jackie, a French major in her freshman year at Hartwick College, Oneonta, is touring with a group of language students. While in France they will study the language, literature and culture of France. The group expects to return to the United States Dec. 22 to be home for the holidays.

Two Kingston area boys are spending a year at a kibbutz in Israel where they are helping with cotton and citrus harvests and living the austere life of commune dweller.

They are Lawrence Martin Breuer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Breuer of 183 Pearl Street, Kingston and Charles William Cullen, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cullen of Stone Ridge.

Larry is a 1970 graduate of Kingston High School and Charles was graduated from Rondout Valley Central High School in 1968. He completed his first year at Ulster County Community College in June. Motivated by a desire to travel and to help others, the boys decided to sign on for the kibbutz year before returning to the states and completing their college careers.

They are working members of Eyal, the smallest and youngest kibbutz in Israel which is located at Hsharon Hatichon.

As volunteers they are assigned living quarters, food, work clothing and a small amount of spending money in return for six days of work each week.

Early impressions of kibbutz life were that it was "quiet, hard but a good life," Larry noted that he was learning

Hebrew "slowly" just by talking with the people. He noted that the kibbutz was no place to pray. The 100 or so members of the community are too busy making the operation work to call on God for help.

Products grown on the compound include cotton, citrus, bananas, and avocados. Chicken and sheep make up the livestock population. The boys spent their first month at the kibbutz helping with the cotton harvest. Later work included picking and packing the fruits of the "paradise" or citrus grove.

Kibbutz living is a serious matter, the boys are finding out. Eyal is located right on the border and from the citrus grove they can look into the Arab fields. There is an arsenal at the kibbutz "just in case." Larry said in a letter to his parents that the kibbutz residents are "not religious but they would die for Israel."

The two youths have had some opportunity to travel, visiting Hafia, "a beautiful city with a view of the Mediterranean" and they plan to travel more extensively before their return to the United States next May.

Larry says that he really doesn't mind the hard work and sparse life he has chosen of the year but he says "next year I think I'll go to school and take a vacation."

It is certain that nothing will replace the experience of this particular year in their young lives.

Closer to home, a Kingston High School senior has had the exciting experience of seeing her poetry in print in a publication of national distribution.

Carol Schupp's poem, I Am in the Darkness, was selected for inclusion in the current issue of Youth, publication of the New York State Division for Youth. The preceptive lines were among those showcased in the Young Contributors feature of the magazine.

Carol, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schupp of RD 5, Box 47, Kingston. She is a graduate of Myron J. Michael School.

Gloria Lansperg of 98 Boulevard, this city, is trying her skill at her chosen career these days. She is one of the more than 500 seniors and graduate students from the University of Illinois who have started their practice teaching.

Gloria is assigned to Urbana Junior High School where the next six to eight weeks she will work directly with the classroom teacher preparing lessons teaching classes and observing.

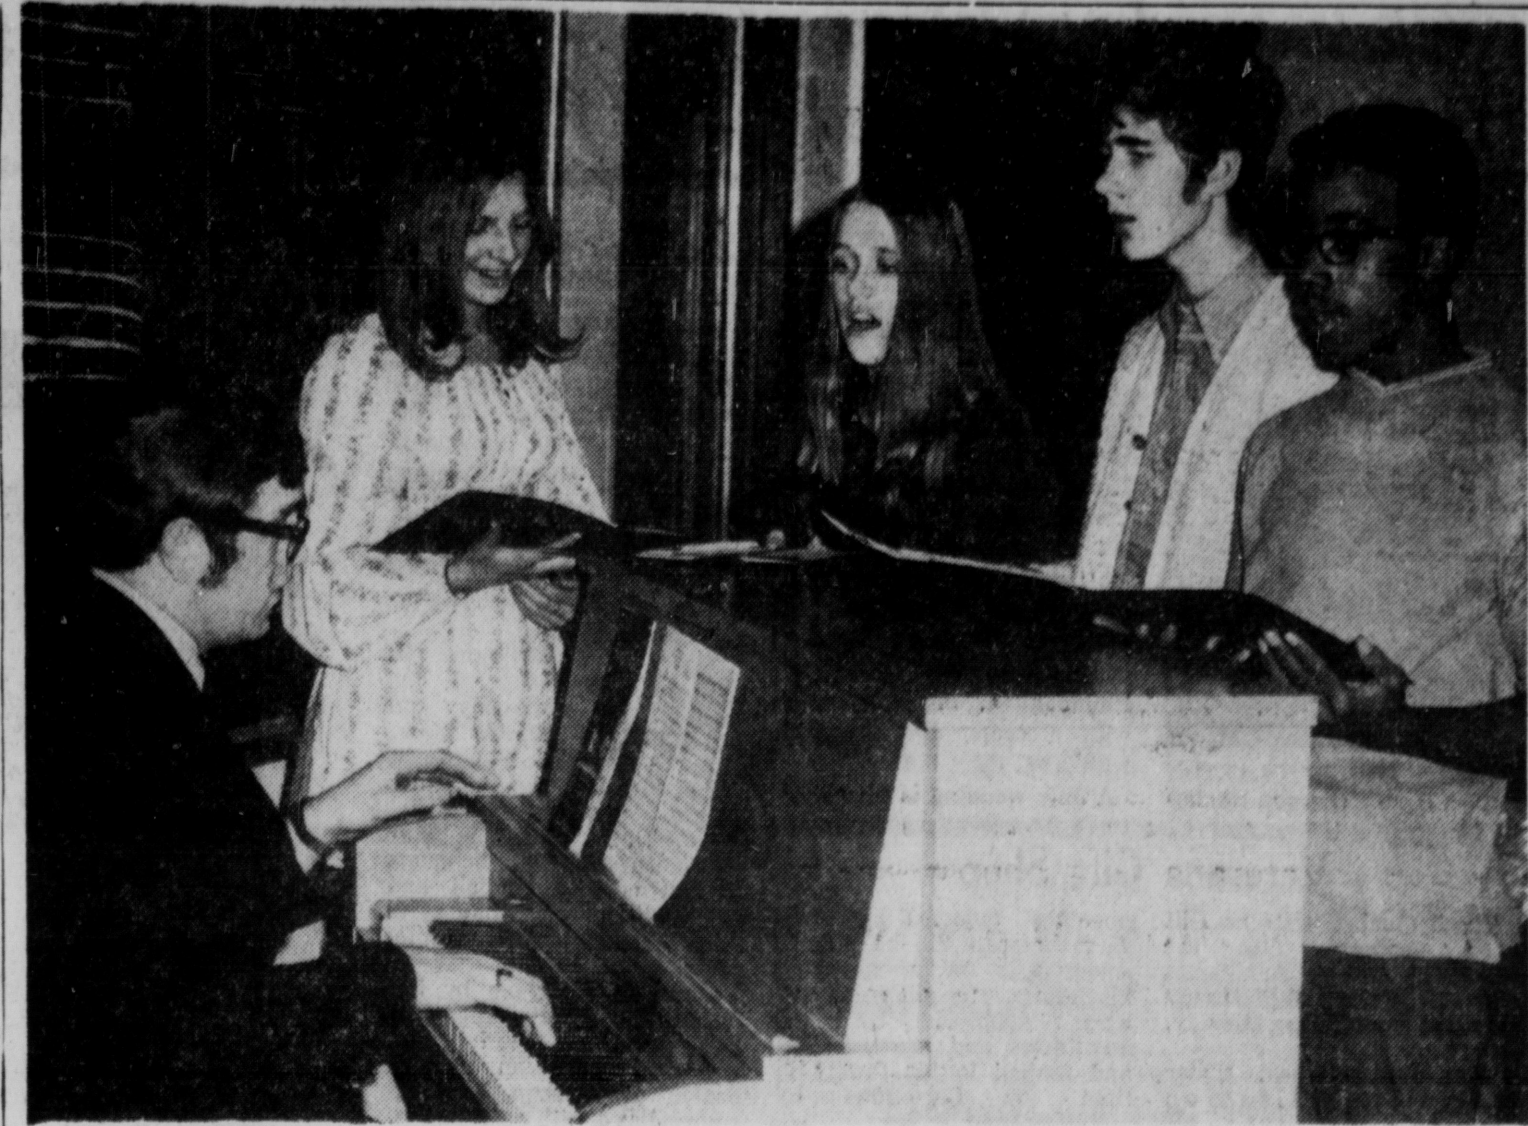

Rondout Valley High School is just bursting with pride about its music students.

Twenty-two instrumentalists took part in the recent area All-State Music Festival with three of them earning first seats through auditions.

Those so honored for their musical achievement were Beauford Woods, tenor sax; Linda Miller, baritone sax, and Ronald Saul, first chair cornet. Lee Herrington, RVHS band director, termed the performance one of the finest concerts ever at an area All-State festival.

Some 400 young musical talents from 30 schools representing some eight counties took part. To make this an even more spectacular example of the responsible and persevering students we do have in our schools, Herrington said this was only one of 17 such festivals around the state. This means that some 6,800 students participated.

The festival attended by area schools was held at the Franklin D. Roosevelt High School in Hyde Park. The orchestra, chorus and band performed to an audience of over 1,000 parents, students and teachers. The groups played and sang with near-professional proficiency.

IN HOLIDAY HARMONY — James Reasor (L) listens for the tone as members of the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School Chorus practice for the fast approaching holiday concert. Choristers are (L-R) Donna Roosa, Laurie Short, Ken Burgess and George McClinton. The musical program will be presented for fellow students and interested parents Dec. 23, the last day of school before the Christmas recess. Bailey band and the new rock group will take part also. ## Pre-Holiday Reflections

For The Associated Press

'Tis the season to be jolly. 'Tis the season of peace on earth, good will to men. 'Tis the holiday that began as the "Mass of Christ" in celebration of His birth; the holiday that still holds deep religious meaning for many. But for others, it is simply a time for rejoicing and merriment.

There are those vehemently opposed to celebrating Christmas with frolic and gift-giving. Their attitude is of novel. It's a throwback to that of the Puritans who induced the English Parliament to pass a law, in 1644, that forbade the festive observance of Christmas.

While this law was in effect Christmas Day was officially designated a fast and market day, with shops compelled to keep open. Plum puddings and even mince pies were declared "heathen."

The Pilgrims who settled colonial America also opposed Christmas festivities; and the New England states waited until well into the 19th century before generally observing a festive Christmas.

While Christmas began as a church celebration, it was not observed officially on Dec. 25 until the 4th century. Prior to that, some had observed Jan. 6 (Epiphany). The gospels, in telling the story of Christ's birth, do not specify a date. Mark and John do not chronicle the birth at all. Matthew and Luke both give Bethlehem as His birthplace, but only Matthew tells of the Wise Men from the East, and only Luke explains the reason for coming to Bethlehem, and how the shepherds were apprised of the event. He also details the stable shelter "because there was no room for them in the inn." Matthew alone mentions the flight to Egypt and Herod's slaying of the innocents.

There has been much research and speculation about the authenticity of Dec. 25 as the date of Christ's birth.

Because to some it seemed to matter, Chrysostom, "golden-voiced" bishop of Constantinople in the 4th century, came up with an argument based on the first chapter of Luke. He traced the date of Jesus' birth by way of the instance when the priest Zacharias received his revelation in the temple that he was to have a son (John) in his old age. Chrysostom figured the date on which Zacharias entered the temple was the Day of Atonement, in September. His wife, Elizabeth, Mary's cousin, was visited by Mary six months later—and Mary had just had her own miraculous experience. To Chrysostom, this confirmed December as Mary's time of fulfillment. Whether that satisfies modern critics or not, it helped them to establish Dec. 25 as the date. There have, however, been other suggested reasons for choosing that date.

For instance, the Roman Saturnalia had been celebrated on Dec. 25 and church authorities may have felt it better to introduce a new reason for a celebration—and new rites. The Christian Gauls seem to have used Dec. 25 long before the Eastern churches. And in Britain, Dec. 25 was a holiday long before its people became Christians. Bede wrote: "The ancient people of the Angli began the year on Dec. 25, when we now celebrate the birth of our Lord."

As for the Christmas tree—St. Boniface is credited with introducing it in Germany, as a substitute for the sacred oak where human sacrifices were made to Odin. Cutting down the oak, he humbled birthplace of Jesus.

placed a small fir there to tribute to the Christ child. Later, Luther added candles to the tree and Queen Victoria's husband, Prince Albert, brought the custom to England. German immigrants carried it to America.

America has one Christmas "first" to its credit. It was the first to set up Christmas trees in public places.

Customs change and differ from country to country and even in different parts of the same country. Fireworks are commonly used for Christmas celebration only in our South. Normandy retains the old custom of children going out to Epiphany Eve to meet the Three Kings (Magi) on the highway. In parts of Mexico, preparation begins for the Posada (resting place) on Dec. 16. Nine families meet one another in different houses each night to re-enact the Biblical search for shelter by pleading in a Latin chant for entry. When admitted to the last room, they sing thanks together. In some Slav countries, children are put to sleep on straw or hay on Christmas Eve to impress on them the humble birthplace of Jesus.

TEEN SCENE: On Pornography Revolution

By LEI

In these "liberated" times, there is getting to be almost as much pornography around as there is discussion of the topic. The people who are against it all seem to know what they're opposing, but they have difficulty defining it. One woman's organization condemned a mail-order catalog for its presentation of lingerie; a teen-aged boy remarked that he hadn't even noticed the nude scene in a film until his parents went to see it and came home shocked. Certain films, books, and magazines have existed under the counter for years and have never claimed to be anything but smut—but what about a student newspaper which publishes terms previously used sparingly even in men's locker rooms? What about the hit musical featuring the actors and actresses nakeder than jaybirds? What about the book that started out to be a spoof of the emphasis on pornography, and came unspooled somewhere? And for that matter, what about much classical literature, mail-order catalogs, and some of the commercials on television?

Authorities are beginning to realize that pornography can be more in the eye of the beholder than in what is being beheld. The pulp magazine that might be pornography to some would be nauseating to others. Many books, films and pictures have genuine artistic merit, but they will be regarded as pornographic by those who are looking for that. (The Bible, Webster's Unabridged, and even the telephone book can all make spicy reading if that is all one looks for in them, but just reading for the "spice" causes one to miss a lot in any book.)

Unfortunately, many publishers, film-makers, recording companies and others find that it's very good business to exploit the merits of their products lop-sidedly. Many conscientious writers have been repelled to find the characters, plot, and conversation they spent months developing were forgotten in the promotion department of the publishing company. The ads were raving about the seething passion and raw realism of a scene that took up a half-page in the book. Similarly, some classical literature suddenly became popular when the comic-book set learned the book supposedly had some salty passages. Often producers, shooting a modern classic, couldn't resist stressing some episodes in the book, hoping to add "common interest" to the original.

(Obviously, they assumed the values that had kept the books among the best literature of the century would not interest their "average viewer," whom they apparently thought was obsessed with sex. Since the films made a great deal of money, probably they still feel the same way.)

Since it is becoming more difficult to define where creativity ends, and pornography begins there is a tendency to relax the laws prohibiting pornography. Legislators are beginning to realize that what is smut to one person may be art to another.

Some people are even beginning to question whether there is not a place for pornography, just as there is for art, in our literature, films, and painting. Long-held beliefs that pornography has harmful effect, particularly on the young, are being questioned. As a result of these trends, many teenagers are facing a choice concerning pornography that would not have been necessary only a few years ago.

In judging the films, pictures, and literature around you, it's good to recall that they are representations of life, and since sex is a part of life, it is inevitable that it will be represented. However sex isn't all of life — or even the most important part of it, so some representations will be out of perspective. The method of portrayal is important — those who have a healthy attitude toward sex can portray it naturally, in a respectful, beautiful, and healthy fashion. Unfortunately, these attitudes are not as common as those who regard sex as something to be commercialized, exploited, and snickered about. Young people who are just forming their attitudes toward sex can be influenced by this cheap, coarse attitude, and it can alter their future relationships.

What the permissive attitude toward pornography is doing is allowing the public—including teenagers—the freedom to regulate their own choices in literature and films. With the "liberated" attitude prevailing, today's teenager must use maturity and discrimination in judging the actual values of what is expected to, as they relate to him. He has the opportunity to make judgements that his parents had to accept the verdicts of "society" concerning. Exercising this opportunity is the responsibility of all of us. True sophistication is built on maturity, discrimination, and selectivity, and this is as true of literature and films as it is of food, clothing, furnishings, or any of the other choices we are privileged to make.

Woman Is Guilty On Loitering Charge

KINGSTON — A woman was suspended from school for refusing to attend gym class. The girl's father, who complied with requests of school officials to leave, explained that he objected to his daughter attending gym classes because a younger son was injured in school sometime ago and the family had to bear the cost of medical care.

Superintendent of Schools Louis A. Salzmann said Friday afternoon in regards to insurance coverage in the schools, that the school district carries liability insurance to cover those cases in which the district is negligent.

She was arrested Wednesday afternoon on complaint of Stephan G. Hyatt, principal, who told police the woman refused to leave the school when ordered to do so.

According to police, the woman's 12-year-old daughter was

Man Killed In Collision With Governor

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland was injured slightly and another man was killed early today in a two-car accident on Route 301, south of here.

The victim was identified as Stephen Bugos of Bowie, Md., driver of a car which reportedly pulled out of a motel parking lot into the path of an unmarked state police car carrying Mandel and Police Lt. Norval Cooper.

Mandel and Cooper suffered lacerations of the face. Their car was demolished and the police radio was destroyed, forcing the governor to walk to the nearby motel to call for an ambulance.

Bugos was dead on arrival at a nearby hospital.

Mandel and Cooper were released from Anne Arundel General Hospital after treatment.

The accident happened near Mitchellville, Md., located about midway between Annapolis and Washington. A spokesman said the governor was returning from a meeting in the Washington area when the accident happened.

Union Leaders At GE Re-elected

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UPI)—Some 11,000 union members at the Schenectady General Electric Co. plant, the company's largest in the country, have returned their local leader to office by a 21 margin.

In balloting Thursday and Friday, members of the International Union of Electrical Workers' Local 301 re-elected Angelo Durante as president and Joseph Magino as business agent.

Local 301 was one of the few in the nation to vote against the proposed contract settlement in the nationwide GE strike last fall.

Dear Abby

His Own Translation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine recently died and left a pretty young widow. The brother of the man who died is married, and he told me himself that he has been doing "double duty" and acting the part of a husband to this widow, if you know what I mean. He says the Bible says it is all right. I can't find anything in my Bible that gives approval to such scandalous goings on. If you can, I wish you would tell me where it is. Thank you.

A FRIEND: Your friend went back to the Old Testament. In Deuteronomy 25:5. "If a brethren dwell together, and one of them shall die, and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry a stranger: her husband's brother shall go unto her and perform the duty of a husband unto her, and the firstborn which she shall beareth shall succeed in the name of his brother which is dead that his name shall not be put out of Israel."

DEAR ABBY: Please print this. It may wake up a few people who give money instead of gifts on birthdays and other occasions. I know there are some people who would rather receive money, but there are still many who prefer a gift. Children, for sure. When my kids get an envelope with a check in it for Christmas you should see their little faces fall. Their grandparents (who live only five minutes away) always send them checks. And I'm the one who has to shop for the gifts, which is a terrible chore for me (especially around Christmastime) as I also have a full-time job, and must shop during my lunch hour or after work. Please tell me if I am wrong to feel that grandparents should send a gift, however inexpensive. It seems that sending a check says, "I can't be bothered to shop for a gift for your kids, so buy them something, will you?"

DISGUSTED WITH CASH: DEAR DISGUSTED: Speak for yourself. Money as a gift can also say, "I think it's foolish to spend my time shopping for a gift that you may have to spend your time exchanging."

It can also say, "I am not able to get around very well, so please buy the children something you think they need or will enjoy. You know their needs and desires better than I."

DEAR ABBY: The church organist who refused to play "Aquarius" at a wedding, because he thought it was "inappropriate" prompts this letter. Nothing incenses me quite as much as hearing someone say they will not play this or sing that for political reasons. A fine pianist I know once told me that he refuses to play Shostakovich because his music was "Communist." How can music be political? It is music.

For those who say the new music has no time or melody, I say, the wind in the trees has no time, but we do deny it is music? I've never heard anyone hum the sound of waves lapping on the sand, but a more restful melody was never written. The cry of a baby cannot be played on a piano, but to new parents, this is music of unbelievable beauty.

Music is what we hear. If the bride hears the sound of love in "Aquarius," and wants it played at her wedding, then, please, Mr. Organist, play it.

And save "Rock of Ages" for those who appreciate it. MRS. D. W.: LAKEWOOD, OHIO

P.S. I am not a hippie. I am an amateur musician and a housewife in my thirties.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490.)

I. CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you are able to seek persons who get the approval of an influential person and take care of your health so you have the necessary vitality, you are able to get your finest aims understood better. Then start the action to put them in motion so that you can have considerable success from them. Be active.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't permit a behind-the-scenes worry to keep you from carrying through with plans for advancement. A particularly fine day to start on some new project. Don't criticize others so much.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Sidestep co-worker who likes criticize and go after personal aims that are most important to you. Group meetings are fine with persons who are able to help you further your objectives. Show you are a good conversationalist.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take care of personal affairs and steer clear of a too opinionated associate. Use own judgment and intuition. Talk over your ideas with an expert and gain the backing you need at this time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Forget usual routines and meet new friends and contacts that can be most helpful to you in the future. A new project, philosophy should be pursued carefully. Make this a productive day.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep busy occupied at important personal matter instead of going off on a tangent that bears little fruit. Pay attention to improving both health and wardrobe. Evening can be very fine socially.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Finding out exactly what your position is with an associate who is important to your scheme of things is wise. Then you can rectify your position with others around you as well. Attend that social affair in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to carry through with promises made provided you use care in travel. Your hunches are good and you can rely on them now more than in the past. Show that you are alert to new opportunities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Not a good day for handling financial affairs, so try to get out for recreation as much as you can. Being with congenials is good. Control your temper or you could get into trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Follow the good suggestions of others today, since your own judgment is apt to be poor. A good day to do some Christmas shopping, also. Avoid the rush later on in the month. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't limit yourself so much and get out to do the shopping, other errands you have in mind. Make the contacts that are valuable for the future. Join with friends at the hobbies you like.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Start making everything more attractive around you and forget the social that you usually like so much, since it could be disappointing. Talk over business aims with experts. Get their backing.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget career matters for today and get personal affairs well handled. A good day for entertaining and amusing others in a charming way. Try not to spend too much money. Stay within your budget.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating youngsters who will have many fine ideas, but will change from one to the other unless you teach to stay on a straight course early in life. There are fine talents in this promising chart, but the cultural, the artistic and the spiritual are the best to follow. Give as much education as you can and teach to stand up for own rights. Steer in right political channels.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day and favorable aspects for spiritual fulfillment and for gaining a fresh inspiration in the philosophy of life under which you would most like to exist. Fine for communicating with those at a distance. Make preparations today to handle matters better for the coming week.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have ambitious plan which should be talked over with experts today so that you gain their backing. Do so confidentially. The evening can be a most romantic one. Be wise.

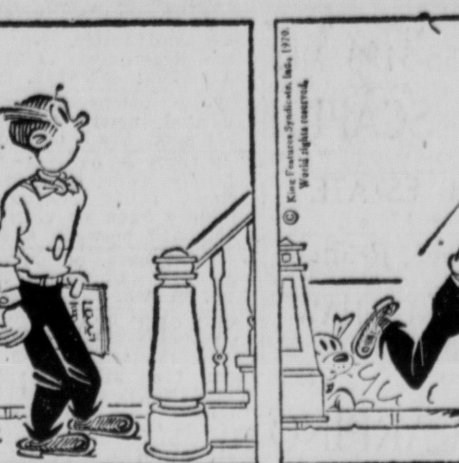

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)

Monday Still Sports Night

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—ABC-TV is taking quick steps to experiment with prime time pro basketball as a possible future replacement for the very successful Monday night pro football games when the gridiron season is over.

The final Monday prime time football contest this season will take place Dec. 14, and the first broadcast to replace it will be a basketball game between the Milwaukee Bucks and the Los Angeles Lakers.

ABC-TV President James Duffy said very recently that prime time pro basketball was a distinct possibility for the near future. His position made sense to some observers who felt that, after establishing a three-day sports weekend with the Monday football games, and getting fine ratings with them, ABC-TV would be forfeiting its new advantage by not trying to build a season-long sports series on Monday nights.

The network currently plans to resume Monday night movies in January as this season's replacement for the football games, whose remarkable success—with broadcasters Keith Jackson, Howard Cosell and Don Meredith—it could not have expected. Pro basketball's occasional, past, prime time ratings have not been awesome, but the sport, according to surveys, has shown considerable potential in fan and audience appeal.

The Dec. 21 basketball game will offer four of the greatest all-time players—Lew Alcindor, Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West and Oscar Robertson. Keith Jackson again will be a reporter, teaming with former star Jack Twyman. And if ABC-TV should decide to go with a prime time pro basketball series in the future, it will have to follow the lead of the football coverage and come up with superior production, a highly colorful broadcasting team—and luck in its scheduling.

Most of all, these various factors will really have to be exceptional to overcome the fact that there are a lot more basketball games than football contests and that, individually, they often just don't seem to mean as much. The obvious choice at first will be to concentrate on the greatest teams with the greatest stars. The compact nature of the sport itself—with easy identification of the relatively few players—is ideally suited for the home screen.

For ABC-TV, the key point should be to keep Monday night for a weekly sports event—preferably with pro basketball following the football, but, in the end, for whatever works: One sport or top individual attractions.

GOING TO TESTIFY — Dennis Conti (R) of Providence, R. I., was escorted to the court martial of Lt. William Calley. Conti was the 31st witness called and the first to testify he saw Lt. Calley shooting civilians at My Lai Hamlet in Vietnam in March of 1968. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Calley Witness Tells Grim Story

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — An ex-GI testifying at the court martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., estimates that 300 people were killed at My Lai and says Calley was a major contributor to the toll.

Dennis Conti, a 21-year-old high school dropout who was in Calley's platoon during the assault on the Vietnamese hamlet, told the military jury Friday that Calley shot down screaming men, women and children. And, he said, when some tried to run, Calley yelled at his men to "get 'em, get 'em, kill 'em."

Of 31 witnesses, Conti is the first who testified to seeing Calley shoot civilians.

Calley is charged with the murder of 102 civilians during the March 16, 1968 sweep of the hamlet.

Conti, an unimpassioned witness who remained unflappable under cross-examination, said he saw Calley firing his M16 automatic rifle at the trail intersection where the lieutenant is charged with 30 deaths and at the drainage ditch east of the village where he is charged with 70 deaths.

The number of My Lai residents left dead in the assault has been estimated variously from 280 to more than 500. Conti estimated 300.

"On what do you base the esimate?" asked the prosecutor, Capt. Aubrey Daniel.

"On the number of people on the trail, people in the ditch and people in the hootches (huts)," Conti said.

As he went through the village, the former GI from Providence, R.I., said, he saw some soldiers cramming people into bunkers, then blowing them up with hand grenades.

Conti had undergone numerous previous interrogations about the day in My Lai—to the Army's criminal investigation division, twice to the high ranking commission that investigated whether the Army had covered up and at the earlier court-martial of Sgt. David Mitchell.

Defense attorney Richard B. Kay tried to attack Conti's credibility by repeating questions from previous interrogations. "I'd have to see the statement on that," Conti said often, asking to read his previous testimony before answering.

Kay attempted to portray Conti as sexually active with Vietnamese women while the soldiers were in the area that day.

The moustached, heavy side-burned young truck driver denied that he had threatened a woman's baby in My Lai if she didn't perform an unnatural act, that Calley had stopped him from raping another woman, that he had bragged about raping Vietnamese women or that while he was going through My Lai he was looking for women.

Conti admitted under cross-examination that he was taking shots for venereal disease on the day of the assault but denied that he had been smoking marijuana.

Kay suggested Conti didn't like Calley. "I didn't dislike day, him. I didn't like him. He was just there," Conti said.

"As a matter of fact, you hated him didn't you?"

"No."

"You threatened to shoot Lt. Calley didn't you?"

"Oh, I deny that."

"Mr. Conti, isn't it a fact you'd like to see Lt. Calley hanged?"

"No."

When Conti left the witness stand after a full day of questioning he did not even glance at Calley. Calley too, looked away.

The trial is in recess until Mon-

Army Clears General Abrams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor has concluded there is no evidence Gen. Creighton W. Abrams "had knowledge of or concealed any mistreatment of prisoners" during an incident in South Vietnam two years ago.

Sgt. Esequiel Torres, who is charged with murder and assault with intent to murder during the alleged March 1968 massacre at My Lai, had accused Abrams of condoning and concealing mistreatment of Viet Cong suspects in the Vietnam village of Chanh Luu.

Torres alleged Abrams, currently commander of American troops in Vietnam, "willfully allowed prisoners and detainees to be tortured and beaten in violation of the Geneva Convention."

The charges were filed on behalf of Torres by attorney Charles L. Weltner. The attorney said the allegations were based on an Associated Press story which appeared in newspapers Aug. 12, 1968.

Listed as sole witness in the formal charge sheet was Peter Arnett, who wrote the AP story.

Arnett's story told of "rows of bound men and women crouched in an open storehouse. Some were muddled. A few looked clean, wet and pale. They had been through the water treatment, a favorite form of interrogation in Vietnam."

Arnett also wrote that Abrams and other allied generals were in the area but later reported he did not mean to suggest "that Gen. Abrams was aware of the beating and the torture I had seen or that he even condoned such activities."

"sort of an unwitting observer ... who merely dropped out of the sky in a helicopter, shook a few hands in a VIP inspection and in about 15 minutes flew out again."

Resor said Friday there was no evidence Abrams was derelict in his duties or that he had knowledge of the alleged mistreatment.

It was the second time Resor has dismissed allegations filed by Torres. The sergeant earlier had accused Gen. William C. Westmoreland of over-all responsibility for actions of his troops in the alleged My Lai massacre.

Westmoreland was commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Vietnam when the alleged My Lai massacre occurred.

Pope Back in Rome After Asian Trip

By BARRY JAMES

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI returned home today from a historic and dramatic journey to Asia, ending without fanfare a trip which began with an attempt on his life in Manila and finished with mass in a red-roofed pagoda in Colombo.

About 150 persons, some of them holding tiny candles and others stamping their feet in near-freezing weather, cheered as the Pope's car drove through St. Peter's Square into the Vatican.

The streets were empty and only a small crowd greeted the 73-year-old pontiff when his chartered jetliner landed at Leonardo da Vinci Airport at 4:33 a.m. at the end of a nine-day journey that took him 29,000 miles to eight exotic and anguished lands in Asia and the Pacific.

It was the ninth and longest trip since he became leader of the world's 600 million Roman Catholics in 1963. It was the most demanding of all and left him weary and hollow-eyed as he walked across a red carpet at the airport, past a cluster of newsmen and into an open limousine which quickly was closed because of the 34-degree temperature.

There was no ceremony, unlike the speeches and the bands which saw the Pope off when he left Nov. 26 for Tehran, Dacca, Manila, Samoa, Sydney, Jakarta, Hong Kong and Ceylon.

The Pope spent about 15 minutes at the airport before leaving, accompanied by police motorcycles, their sirens screaming in the night, for the Vatican. Aides said he was going to sleep immediately to rest from the strenuous trip.

It was a low key return—the only government representative was an undersecretary from Premier Emilio Colombo's office.

The journey was marred by the first attempt in modern times to kill a Pope. Bolivian artist Benjamin Mendoza was pushed from the Pope only a yard away after aides noticed he was carrying a knife.

Mendoza, who earlier said he tried to kill the Pope because he was a "symbol of superstition," later pleaded innocent to charges of attempted murder.

The attack was forgotten in the warmth of the greeting given the Pope the rest of the time.

Top British Leaders to Welcome Cross

MONTREAL (UPI) — The bizarre kidnapping of James R. Cross ended on a happy note today with the British diplomat headed for England and a reunion with the wife he hasn't seen for more than eight weeks during which he was a prisoner of a French Canadian terrorist organization.

The Canadian government talked of giving him a medal for bravery.

Cross, 49, was to take off for London's Heathrow Airport today shortly after making his first public statement since he was released Thursday after two months as a hostage of the Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ).

It was not expected that he would ever return.

His kidnapers — identified as Marc Carbonneau, Jacques

Lancot and Pierre Seguin — were safe in Cuba, after trading Cross' life for a government promise of safe passage to Havana.

The government provided a Canadian forces Boeing 707 to carry Cross home, and Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey was named to head the send-off delegation, and say goodbye on behalf of Canada.

Waiting for him in London will be his wife Barbara, who last saw him Oct. 5, as he was led manacled from the bedroom of their comfortable home by two carbine-wielding FLQ terrorists.

The External Affairs Department said representatives of the British government would head the official welcoming party in London. Diplomatic sources said they would be high-ranking British leaders, "almost certainly of cabinet rank, at least."

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Trudeau said the government was considering awarding Cross the Order of Canada, the nation's highest honor. Robert Stanfield, leader of the opposition Conservative party, said Cross should be given the award for his bravery and endurance.

Dr. David Custom, Cross' physician, said Cross told him he had been handcuffed at night, and made to sit so that he could not see his captors, so he could not identify them later. Mrs. Cross told reporters in Berne, Switzerland, where she awaited the end of the ordeal, that he had been

"blinkered" to prevent him seeing the kidnapers.

Cross is Intimidated

The Montreal Gazette reported that the kidnapers, who kept Cross in a darkened room throughout his 60-day captivity, also intimidated him from attempting to escape by a "bomb" of two sticks of dynamite they attached to his body. The package included a switch and a detonating battery, and the kidnapers told Cross that if he moved much, it would go off. The dynamite was real but the detonating device would not really have triggered it, the newspaper reported.

Cross lost 29 pounds in captivity, and "he survived the whole time on a starch diet" without meat or fish, said Dr. Leonard J. Brandt, of Jewish General Hospital, where Cross was taken on his release.

Javits Wants Country To See More of Nixon

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N. Y., today urged President Nixon to hold more news conferences as a means of avoiding isolation from the needs of the country.

"Any President runs the risk of being too closely insulated from the country with his reading material screened, with his personal meetings limited and with staff assessments of what are the moods and the needs of the people," Javits said in a speech prepared for the American Jewish Committee.

He said more news conferences would place the President "in closer touch with what the people are saying and what the people want."

Nixon last faced the press in Los Angeles July 30.

Javits said the 1970 election should have taught the President that he "must be on guard against those who would isolate him from the people and advise him to use the presidency not for projecting national moral leadership, but rather for pursuing partisan goals."

The senator also said Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's campaign strategy sought "negatively to pull people to the extremes, not to bring them together." But he said the voters "demonstrated their traditional independence by generally rejecting ideological appeals to fear on the law and order issue."

Turning to his own state, Javits said Conservative Sen-elect James L. Buckley had defeated President Spiro T. Agnew's by exploiting the law and order issue. It was "decisive in insuring his victory," he said. Javits urged liberals not to give up on the law and order issue. There is no reason why liberals cannot be just as firm and even more effective in crime control," he said.

DANCING WATERS RISE AND FALL

Christmas Show Boasts Holiday Spectacle

For those who think of Christmas as the most wondrous time of the year, there's a special treat in store to double your 1970 Yule enjoyment.

"The Christmas Show," being produced by Estelle and Alfonso for presentation next weekend, will feature the giant fountains of Dancing Waters direct from New York City's Radio City Music Hall. In what is considered an unmatched holiday spectacle for the entire family, all the joys of Christmas will be emphasized by these sparkling waters as they fill the stage at Poughkeepsie High School in towering sprays of festive formations and effects... rising and falling with brilliant multi-colored lighting to the accompaniment of holiday music.

Nineteen motors, activated from an electrically operated console, played like an organ, force thousands of gallons of circulating water through more than 4,000 jets, to a controlled height of almost 50 feet, from portable sections of pipe and cable, fitted together into a portable rubber trough-tank, all ingeniously put together.

As the sparkling waters rise and fall under the multi-colored lighting to the accompaniment of mood music, the Dancing Waters present limitless formations, effects and combinations, from a "fireworks display" to classical ballet scene, with the waters actually dancing waltzes, tangos, and swirling and swishing in modern intricate dance movements—all breath-taking in their beauty.

These same fountains have been shown around the globe; can be viewed in this area on Dec. 12 and 13 when the charming musical, "The Christmas Show," is premiered in Poughkeepsie.

This lavish fantasy, replete with dancers and singers, is excellent family entertainment. Performances are set for 8 p.m. Saturday, and at 2 and 6 p.m. on Sunday. All shows will be presented as benefits for the Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company.

Poets and Performers: Poetry in a Theatrical Style

POETS & PERFORMERS. Four black actor-writers who perform their own poetry in a theatrical style, will appear at Bard College on Wednesday, Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. in Bard Theatre.

The public is welcome at no admission charge to the program, sponsored by Bard's Black and Latin American Club, in cooperation with Togetherness Productions of New York City. An informal discussion between the artists and the audience will follow the performance.

The visiting artists include Donald Green, Sandra Sharp, Norman Matlock and Kan-Kan, all published writers with Broadway and off-Broadway performing credits. They will be joined by Reggie Workman on bass and percussion instruments.

Won Best Actor Award

A native New Yorker who is much in demand on the "coffee house circuit" of poets, Donald Green has been featured on WABC's "Like It Is," and appeared off-Broadway in Archie Schepp's Revolutions. His poetry has been published in "Forty Acres and a Mule" and in the anthology, "We speak as Liberators." He is the recipient of the Best Actor award of the New York HarYouAct Drama Unit, where his short plays and poems have been performed.

The attractive Miss Sharp, who has appeared in the acclaimed Gordon Parks' film, "The Learning Tree." On and off-Broadway she has been seen in Hello, Dolly!, Black Quartet, To Be Young, Gifted and Black, and other plays. She is a professional actress-singer who can be seen and heard currently in numerous radio and TV commercials. Kan-Kan, who has taught in the public schools of New York and Detroit, is now an editor with a publishing firm. Her

NORMAN MATLOCK, acclaimed for his performance of Othello with the National Shakespeare Company of Boston, is a member of the Poets and Performers troupe coming to the Bard campus Dec. 9.

DONALD GREEN and SAUNDRA SHARP, both published writers with Broadway and off-Broadway performing credits, make up half of the quartet of black actor/writers who'll appear in a special program at Bard College this coming Wednesday night.

Steel and Wood and Plastic and Sound for New Paltz

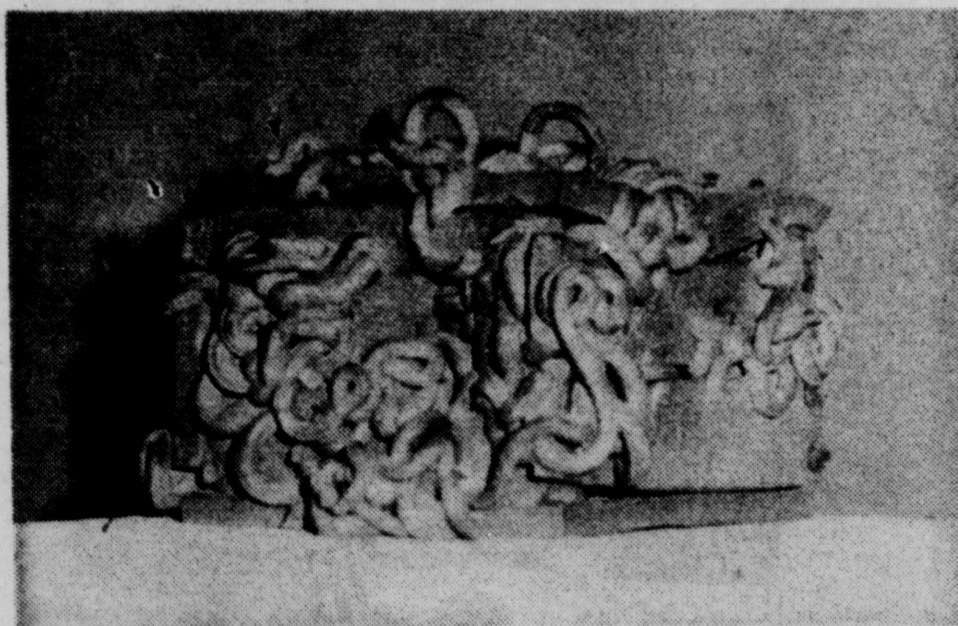

17—THE DAILY FREEMAN, DECEMBER 5, 1970

"SPRING WALK" is the title of this Intaglio print in color with segmented plates, one of the works by Volker Antoni in the current exhibit at College Art Gallery in New Paltz. Antoni is a Brooklyn artist, whose Apocalypse Workshop, a new group-print studio, is slated to open soon.

UNTITLED PRINT by Antoni again shows his preoccupation with segmented plates. His exhibit on the New Paltz campus will be on view until Dec. 18; speaks eloquently for his reputation as an award winning artist. His commissions have included work for the U.S. Air Force Museum.

INNOVATIVE SCULPTURE by Ron Boyko, student at Boston's Massachusetts College of Art, utilizes ceramic with nails. Works in this segment of the Paltz show range from familiar media to unusual materials, but all are imaginative. (All photos by Haines).

WOOD SCULPTURE by Anne Wallace, a student of Boston's School of the Museum of Fine Arts, is one of the untitled but intriguing works in the "Young Massachusetts Artists" show now on view until Dec. 18 at College Art Gallery, New Paltz.

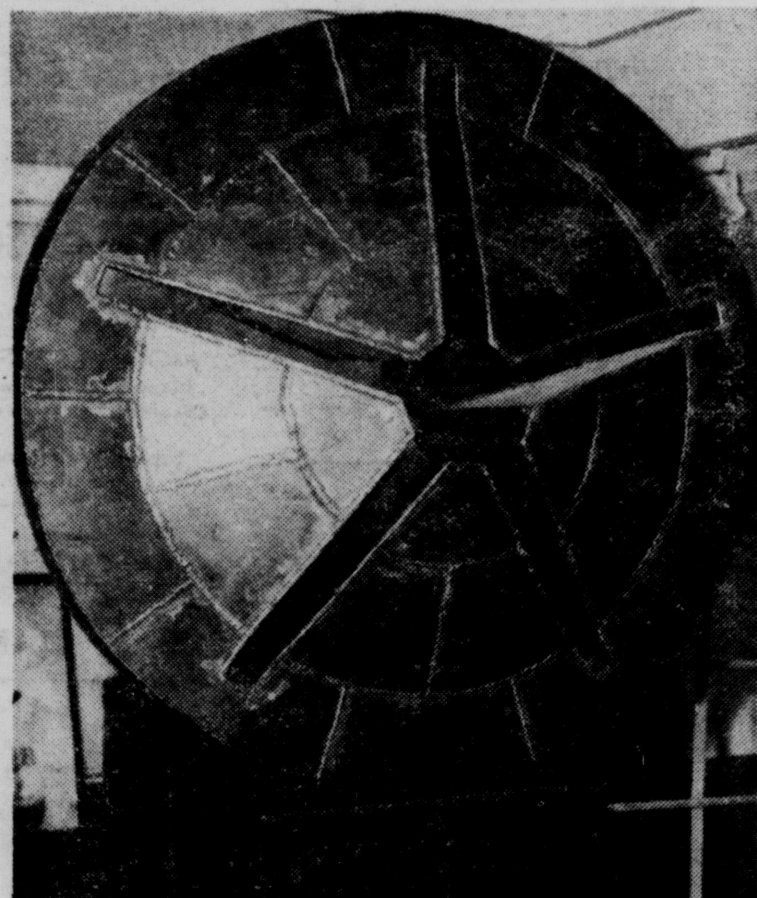

To the selection of prints by Volker Antoni, the exhibit that opened at College Art Gallery, New Paltz, at November's end, has been added a new display, entitled "Young Massachusetts Artists."

Brooklyn artist Antoni's print show, housed in the North Gallery, and the exhibit of sculpture and drawing by students attending schools in Massachusetts, on view in the South Gallery, will both run until Dec. 18.

Antoni has exhibited widely throughout the U.S.; is a frequent award winner; has received commissions from both government and private enterprise. Currently laying groundwork for a new group-print studio, the Apocalypse Workshop, in New York, his most recent award came for his work on a commission entitled "Great Ideas of Western Man."

The students-schools show, organized on Boston and Amherst campuses, is an unusually fine exhibit; includes works from the more familiar media such as steel and wood, to those incorporating more innovative materials such as plastic and sound. It is marked by a wide variety of individual approaches, freshness, and imagination.

The dual exhibits may be seen Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Thursdays from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.; and Sundays from 2-5 p. m.

To This Rhythm Guitarist, Country Music Is Special

It is not difficult today to find a great many people who think the country and western boom has added its own valuable contribution to American pop culture. They point to the numerous singer-writers who started out creating their own material and, in effect — and without being self-conscious about it — writing the folk songs of today, flavored by the country and western touch.

One, well described in that statement, who has composed highly personalized material, is Rose Ann, a talented singer-writer who has lived in Wappingers Falls for the past two years.

Her newest record, "I Shouldn't But I Do" (backed on the flip side by "Hands Under the Table"), is on the Pretty Girl label out of Memphis, Tenn. She'll be recording again in January and, in addition to being a singer who delights audiences, she is also a licensed composer with Broadcast Music, Inc., known more universally as BMI.

In the Carolinas

Rose Anne was born in Greenville, S.C.; worked her way through the Carolinas and Tennessee doing radio and television stints. Before settling in the Hudson Valley, she was a favorite and a regular on the Lonesome Valley Jamboree, telecast on Channel 12 from Kingsport, Tenn.

She has the kind of voice that draws encores from an audience, and a vibrant personality that stems from a genuine love of people. Testament to her drawing power is the fact that her friends and fans can be counted in large numbers from her native southland to the northern reaches of New York State.

"Friends are more valuable

to me than riches," she says. And, agreeing with other performers who have acknowledged their debts to fans: "If you make it big in this business, it's your fans who make you. You have to realize this and honor them by showing them you appreciate and realize their importance to you."

For Rose Anne, that must come easily. She seems to find sheer delight in just meeting and talking to people — all kinds of people.

About her music she says, "I country songs as stories about couldn't live without it. I like something that has either and enjoy all types of music happened to you personally or — but country music is very to someone you know; says their strength is in their ability special to me."

She is not surprised that this to "reach right into the hearts hill and range brand of music of man." is rising so rapidly in popularity. Hudson Valley C & W fans among people of all ages; feels know Rose Anne as the rhythm its appeal is in the fact that guitarist and vocalist featured song can help them do that, "it communicates." She defines with Gil Rogers and the Country then they've been entertained.

Playmates. The group has played in many area nightspots. Still, one of Rose Ann's favorite shows is the square dance held on the last Sunday night of each month at the Chalet Lounge in Rosendale. As performed Ulster County style, they remind her of home, where she says square dances are a regular part of the entertainment down South. And she brings a touch of the Carolinas and Tennessee to the monthly festivities by demonstrating her expertise at the art of clogging, long a popular part of the Nashville scene.

A youthful grandmother at 38, she says it was one of her happiest moments when her daughter, June Wilson of West Union, S. C., bestowed the title of grandma on her recently via a seven pound, four and one-half ounce baby, boy.

A Musical Son

She's also proud of her son, Dave Linton, an excellent lead guitarist and vocalist. Following in his mother's footsteps musically, he is also now making his home in this area.

In Rose Ann's music, many are finding pleasure. Her songs rarely tell people what to believe, do or be. They are not aimed at instructing, but at expressing, showing, feeling. She is very good at her chosen profession, and at evoking laughter or a salty tear or two from her listeners.

That could very well be what country and western music is all about — giving the listener a chance to weep, cry, laugh.

People who rarely feel pain and laughter enough, may very well need such release...and if a song can help them do that, they've been entertained.

20th Century Artist In the 'Tradition' Of an Earlier Age

Before the Russian Revolution, the Imperial City of St. Petersburg was famed for its many exports. And among these were some of the finest ballerinas and fiddlers of the time. Pavlovas and Nijinskys poured out of the Maryinsky Theatre in awesome numbers, and from Leopold Auer's studio at the St. Petersburg Conservatory came many of the most eminent violinists of this century — Jascha Heifetz, Efrem Zimbalist, Mischa Elman.

Even so, many musicians believe that Nathan Milstein is the greatest of all the Auer pupils — a high accolade indeed in view of the master's many famed students.

Here on December 7

This means, of course, that any performance by Milstein is a major event — and a major event it will be when he performs the Concerto in A minor for Violin, by Glazounov, on Dec. 7 at Kingston's Community Theatre.

Milstein will appear here with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Claude Monteux, and the Monday concert is set for 8:30 p. m.

In point of fact, however, Auer was far from the only musical influence in Milstein's life. Glazounov, whose music he will play here — and who was the director of the St. Petersburg Conservatory at the time, conducted his famous Violin Concerto for Milstein in Odessa when the fledgling violinist was only ten years old. Moreover, he conducted it again for the HVPO's guest artist eight years later in a benefit concert at the Conservatory. Further tribute to Milstein's talent was paid by the great Eugene Ysaye. When Milstein was taken to him in Brussels while still a youngster, Ysaye told him that, master though he was, he could teach him nothing.

From Auer, one can believe, however, that Milstein imbibed the great tradition of the 19th century, for Auer was himself once a pupil of Joachim, the great violinist friend of Brahms and Schuman, and worked in the St. Petersburg of Tchaikovsky and Wieniawski. So it is that the Milstein concert here in Kingston will draw on a great tradition.

Interaction Of: Music, Words

Frank Mele, Woodstock writer-musician will present a visiting lecture on "Music and Words" at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College at 1:40 p.m. on Tuesday (Dec. 8).

His appearance, being sponsored by the English Department at the college, is free and open to the public. The program will be held in Room 420 of the John Burroughs Science Building.

Mele will talk and read from several short stories which he feels sustain a premise of the interaction of words with a view to achieving a "musicality" to convey attitudes, as contrasted with the more "utilitarian" concept of words towards a more or less "exact" meaning.

Equally Adept at Both

The speaker has the distinction of having performed as a classical musician and also being a published writer.

A short story authored by Mele was recently published in Volume IV of "Bluestone" Magazine and another one has been published in a hardcover anthology entitled "Fisherman's Bounty," issued by Crown Publishers. This latter book is a selection of stories, articles, and poems of more or less classical stature taken from the body of English and American angling literature extending from Walton to the present day.

In addition, Mele has had articles published in "Musical Courier" and short stories published in "The Quarterly Review of Literature." He has completed one novel, now in the process of revision, and has a second novel in progress.

He has also lectured on the violin and viola at Kansas University in Kansas and has given private lessons in both instruments. He formerly played with the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, Eastman-Rochester Orchestra and Symphony of Air. He has also performed with the Woodstock String Quartet, Maverick Chamber concerts and the Modern Art String Quartet.

Nine Months Musical

NBC has scheduled for next Feb. 24 a one-hour musical comedy special entitled "The First Nine Months are the Hardest." Subject (what else?): Pregnancy. Funny? Anyway, those involved are Dick Van Dyke, described as the "narrator-obstetrician;" show business personalities Mr. and Mrs. Ken Berry (Jackie Joseph), Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Bono (Cher) and Mr. and Mrs. James Farentino (Michele Lee).

Two to Go Under Your Christmas Tree

Christmas is one holiday that should mean something more than tinsel, toys and outward show. And in this period of cynicism and materialism, one local community still manages to express the real meaning of Christmas.

With the holidays here, the Society of Brothers—that unique religious community at Rifton—has taken obvious care to produce a book and record combination to add appropriately to the Yule season.

The book, "THE SHEPHERD'S PIPE, Songs from the Holy Night," is a beautiful and infinitely precious tome, richly and stunningly illustrated in color by Maria Maendel. It is a virtual Christmas Cantata, and families that enjoy singing together will find much pleasure in this book, a volume that rejoices in bringing to Christmas something other than artificial trees and battery-operated breakables.

A Thing of Beauty

"The Shepherd's Pipe" is a beautiful anthology of Christmas materials, with words by Georg Johannes Gick, set to music for children's voices or youth choir by Marlys Swinger. If the book has at its center the fact of Christmas, all of the voices that speak through it are for every day and every time.

This is a book unique in that all words and music have been hand lettered with patience and love by Gillian Barth, and the volume itself is hand-sewn. Since publishing of this type is rare today, small wonder that this year, books produced by the Society of Brothers won the first, second and third prizes bestowed by the prestigious Printing Association.

The book makes for a highly original Christmas present for any youngster. It is full of music simple enough for anyone to sing yet rich enough for the accomplished. It can be enjoyed and cherished by the individual family, as well as church and school groups.

"Pipe" has long been a part of the Christmas experience in the communities of the Society of Brothers, founded in an effort to truly live out the Sermon on the Mount. Now this group, which has proved harmony and brotherhood is possible, shares its Yule tradition in print for others to enjoy and use.

Basis for Pageant

Pipe's collection of songs adds much to the Christmas canon; centers around the Stable on Christmas Night. The musical poems used were found in a bookshop in Germany in 1935; are joyous and unpretentious. A special section of the book describes how the Rifton community has used "Pipe" as a pageant.

Equally valuable is the record of the same title. Also a product of The Plough Publishing House at Rifton, it is again a Christmas Cantata, this time sung by 55 children in grades four through 12 from the Woodcrest Community at Rifton. With string quartet and piano accompaniment, the record evokes the simple beauty and genuine unpretentiousness of that Night of nights.

It is obvious that the Rifton children's choir enjoys singing these songs and their infectious enthusiasm makes for lively holiday listening.

Both the book and the record of "The Shepherd's Pipe" serve to remind us that the Christ child came not in gorgeous, gilded array, but as the poorest and humblest of creatures. Through the moving human drama conveyed in poetry and song, the mysteries of the little path, the bed of hay, the linden tree are revived for today.

From the Rifton community has come an inspired Yule offering to read, sing, play and listen to all through the year. We can imagine few other gifts that could convey so well the simplicity and beauty of Christmas. (T. G.)

COVER ILLUSTRATION for just published songbook is in four colors; was done by Maria Maendel, whose artistic talent seems to rejoice in bringing to Christmas something other than tinsel and outward show. Book can be purchased alone or with a companion record on which youthful members of the Society of Brothers at Rifton sing a Christmas cantata on a beautifully conceived album titled "The Shepherd's Pipe," which is also the title of the book.

Buy Them Together

Both the book and record are currently available at Kingston's Book Center. Each may be purchased alone (the book is $6.50; the record $3.98), but, together in combination, they will make a prized Christmas gift for any child at the slightly reduced price of $10.

CELLIST LUIS GARCIA-RENART

Concert of Concertos

Vassar College department of music will present a concert by the Vassar College Orchestra, conducted by Luis Garcia-Renart, at 8:30 p. m., Wednesday (Dec. 9) in Skinner Recital Hall.

Mr. Garcia-Renart is first cellist with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, and also conducts the Orchestra in Progress. The program on the Poughkeepsie campus will consist of three concertos: the Violin Concerto in E Major by Bach, the Horn Concerto in D Major by Mozart, and the Piano Concerto in D Minor by Bach. Solo performers, all students in the Vassar music department, will be Nicholas Neumann, violin; Andrea Baldeck, horn; and Martha Schrepel, piano.

The concert is open to the public without charge.

Those Vocal Seminars Score Again

The second series of Seminars for the Vocal Arts concluded recently at Ascension Parish Hall in West Park.

Those who attended were again given a most interesting program which included music from the Italian, French, and German repertoires. Advanced students from Karen Ranung's vocal studio were presented in the major portion of the final afternoon's program. Among those who participated were Joan Merrill, soprano, who sang selections from the Song Cycle by Brahms; Patricia Cummins, contralto; Hilda Carr, soprano, who sang selections by Wagner; and tenor Michael Condor, who sang the well known "Comfort Ye My People" from the Messiah.

Special guests were Diane Spinski, who has studied drama at Hunter College, and Lydia Small, lyric soprano. Miss Spinski read two selections by Robert Frost—"The Death of the Hired Man" and "The Pasture." Both were very well done. The second selection was interpreted through song by Miss Ranung. Lydia Small, Lyric soprano, has a most powerful voice and sings with great feeling. She was well received by the audience.

Mr. Tineyre, close friend and former teacher of Miss Ranung, was on hand for this seminar, and delighted the audience by reading two French selections.

Mrs. Ranung has announced that the first "Seminar Concert" will be held on Dec. 13 at the Ascension Parish at 3:30 p.m. This will be a particularly interesting program featuring Gerald Goodman, who has concentrated extensively in the U.S. and Canada. He will present a varied program for harp.

'The Tricycle' Pedals On Campus for Tryout

"The Six Foot Tricycle," a revue hopefully headed for Broadway, will get a tryout performance at Bennett College, Millbrook, on the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 9. The show, for which neither reservations nor tickets will be needed, is open to the public and will take place in Harkaway Theater, Mellon Center for the Arts, beginning at 8 p.m.

The revue is comprised of three one-act musicals based on Grimm's fairy tales. Act I is "The Cat and the Mouse in Partnership," a story that for today's audiences is that of a big guy and a little guy who are friends until the big one starts pushing the little one around.

This is followed by "The Fisherman and His Wife," a famous tale of greed. Unlike the other two plays of the evening, "The Fisherman" has no spoken dialogue but in instead a tiny opera.

On Old Age

The final playlet is "The Bremen Town Musicians." This deals with old age and, although everything would seem to be ending for the main characters, they nevertheless manage to create something of a new beginning for themselves.

Four young theater people comprise the troupe presenting "The Six Foot Tricycle." Author of the plays is Craig Carneglia, 21, who dropped out of Hofstra University after a year and a half to play The Boy in an Off-Broadway production of "The Fantasticks." This and other experience onstage convinced him he did not like acting, and he has since devoted himself to writing — successfully enough to have produced an earlier revue at an upper West Side theater in New York.

Actors in the company are Carneglia's wife, Maureen Silliman, and his brother, whose stage name is James Duncan. Miss Silliman also attended Hofstra University, and both she and Duncan have acted off Broadway, in repertory, and in summer stock.

Al Hill is director of "The Six Foot Tricycle." He has directed a number of shows regionally and off Broadway. His even more extensive acting experience includes a role in last year's production of "The Chalk Garden" at Bennett.

Britten's Carols In Yule Service

Something special for the holidays is in store when the performing arts department of Bennett College presents a Christmas service at Grace Episcopal Church, Millbrook, on the evenings of Dec. 10 and 11.

The program will feature Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols," sung by the entire Bennett College Chorus, under the direction of Timothy Vernon of the college's music faculty.

Elaborating on Britten's "Ceremony," the department will accompany some of the carols with dances, choreographed for the occasion by Jane McLaughlin, chairman of the Bennett dance faculty, and performed by the college's dance majors.

In addition, the service will include a mystery play acted by Bennett drama students, and the carols will be interspersed with a series of dramatic readings of Christmas poetry. Ranging from Shakespeare and John Donne to T.S. Eliot, the readings will be given by Father John Beaven, members of the Bennett faculty, and drama students under the direction of Professor James Nygren, director of the performing arts at Bennett. There will also be music by the Bennett College recorder group and a professional harpist.

The service is planned for the community. It will begin each evening at 8.

The Nutcracker For a Benefit

No Christmas season would be complete without "The Nutcracker," the Yule classic that has long been a favorite of adults and youngsters alike.

Good news, then, that a benefit performance of "The Nutcracker" will be presented in our area and within easy driving distance during the holiday season.

"The Nutcracker" will come to colorful life once again on Saturday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Mount Saint Mary College Theatre, on the college's Newburgh campus.

Orange Ballet Troupe

It will be presented by the Orange County Ballet Theatre, and all proceeds from the performance will go to the "Million for the Mount" fund drive.

Through purchase of tickets for this performance, area residents are afforded the dual opportunity of supporting the college fund drive while enjoying a superb evening of entertainment," says a spokesman for the Orange County Ballet Theatre.

Tickets for the Christmas classic may be obtained by calling the College Cultural Center, 561-5690, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., or 562-6750 from 3 to 7 p.m.

Marvin as Non-Wastrel Is Like Santa Claus Assassinated

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lee Marvin, a paragon of the disreputable wastrel in motion pictures, will shave, don clean clothes, comb his hair and appear stone sober on the television special, "Changing Scene" Dec. 9.

It's as though some misanthrope assassinated Santa Claus. For years Marvin has depicted the dregs of mankind building up a following among the dissolute, the alcoholic and the league of dirty old men.

Now, treacherously, he has turned song and dance man. He hoofs with Gene Kelly in the ABC clambake and croaks along in his sourmash baritone.

One suspects the white-haired Academy Award winner of letting success go to his head. His rendition of "Wandering Star," the ditty he warbled in "Paint Your Wagon" is a huge hit in England, Australia and Japan. There are no complete reports from Tierra del Fuego.

Why, Lee Marvin, have you turned traitor to your out-caste?

"Aw, hell," he said, his voice the timbre of thunder, "it's something different."

"In this show I just get up there and take it. The worse you are the better they like it."

Of Marvin this is true.

Hardly anyone sours the milk of kindness so much as Lee in the character of Kid Sheleen in "The Ballad of Cat Ballou"—for which he won the Oscar. Nor did parents point at Ben Rumsen, his role in "Paint Your Wagon," and urge their sons to follow Ben's benders.

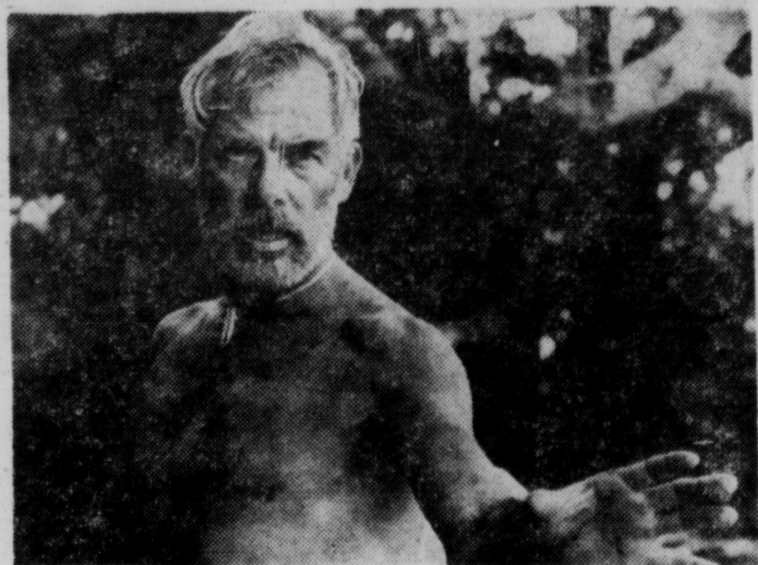

"If there were any men left on earth like the characters I play," Marvin said wistfully, "they'd be in jail or the madhouse. My roles are all individualists, non-conformists."

"But if Ben Rumsen were around he'd be in a straight jacket. He was a gift to women and the community."

He was also a boon to distillers, manufacturers of crooked dice, marked decks, bordellos and lovers of street fights.

In a burst of rectitude Marvin concluded: "The farther a character is from my own personality and character, the easier it is for me to play him."

"It's not every day you can take a knife away from Clint Walker and make him look like a dummy."

LEE MARVIN, Woodstock's own home-grown superstar, as he appeared in the film, "Hell in the Pacific." Next Wednesday night, he stars in a television special in which he steers clear of his dissolute, alcoholic screen image; turns song and dance man with hooper Gene Kelly.

Patrick Magee Stars In TV's 'Marat-Sade'

Patrick Magee, Ian Richardson, fellow inmates in a dramatization of the murder of Jean Paul Marat (Ian Richardson), a leader of the French Revolution who was abbed to death by a young girl of the gentry, Charlotte Corday (Glenda Jackson). The film version of the highly acclaimed 1965 play will be seen on the public television station Thursday, December 10 at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, December 12 at 8:30 p.m.

It is a play within a play, set in the Asylum of Charenton an actual French institution at which inmates sometimes gave theatrical performances as a type of therapy during the early 1800's. The Marquis de Sade, who was confined to the asylum for the last 11 years of his life, directed these performances.

In "Marat/Sade," Patrick Magee portrays de Sade, who has been asked to direct his inmates completely out of order.

THE KING COUSINS, nine of the more than 40 singing members of The King Family, whose perky singing and humor will be heard on television during the holidays. The Cousins will appear on "Christmas With the King Family," the traditional holiday attraction to be shown on WNEW-TV (Channel 5) Sunday, Dec. 13, at 7 p. m. The King Family will come together to celebrate the season with song, and enjoy some holiday surprises along the way. Highlights will include Marilyn King singing "My Favorite Things," Alyce King Clarke doing "I'll Be Home for Christmas," "White Christmas" by the King Sisters, an enactment of the Christmas Story by the King Kiddies, and a special Christmas medley by the entire group.

Film is now playing at the Rosendale Theatre.

MOVIES

What Ever Happed To Aunt Alice?

Back for a rerun and, as far as we're concerned — a welcome one — at Kingston's Community currently is this marvelously scary chiller-thriller. "Alice" is all about a suddenly penniless widow (beautifully portrayed by Geraldine Page) who has turned to robbery and murder as a means of continuing to live in her accustomed luxury.

She's been getting away with crime or the half-shell until she rouses the suspicions of her housekeeper (Ruth Gordon in a performance that deserved an Oscar every bit as much as her role in "Rosemary's Baby").

It all takes place in a remote desert house in Arizona, where Miss Page settles in after her husband's death, and employs a succession of companion-housekeepers with big bank accounts and no family connections. A woman with a black heart and a green thumb, she tricks them into letting her invest their savings; then does maturity. With her wealthy 'em in and plants 'em deep in her garden under a row of pine trees.

This is edge-of-the-seat, holding-your-breath entertainment. When the macabre truth is uncovered by old pro Gordon, the screen pulsates in an evenly matched duel between the two women that goes all out in its chilling melodrama. And, best of all, it comes up with a whizbang of a surprise ending.

Girly

"Girly" is a sort of Lolita — but unlike Nabokov's heroine, she goes in for things far more bizarre than lollipops and sunglasses. The film, now playing as a co-feature at Kingston's Community, is a suspense shocker. It's theme might well be "everyone's just dying to meet GIRLY."

Vanessa Howard, who has appeared in some of the top assignment plums on the London stage, stars as a charming nymphette — a young woman suddenly grown to sexual if not emotional maturity. With her wealthy family, a group that has invented for itself a strange set of values in the interest of having fun, she leads a weird life. In their big old house outside London, they play games according to their own rules — and the audience never knows when a lover turned victim may suddenly appear from behind boarded bedroom doors.

ON THE SURFACE, this wealthy family group inhabiting a big old house outside London seem eccentric, but pleasant. But there are evil doings underfoot in their imaginative life, and it all leads to a death here and there in "GIRLY," the suspense shocker on the current double bill at Kingston's Community.

"Girly" sort of starts where Baby Jane left off — and all kinds of strange things happen to male guests in Miss Howard's crumbling mansion with false doors, secret entrances, galleries and staircases.

With Mumsy and Nanny and Sonny, Girly succeeds in combining a fair amount of terror and suspense. Let's just say that Girly is the one men die to meet — in more ways than one. It's all pretty unbelievable — and often silly — but most shockers of the genre are and there's enough evil sheanigans to hold your interest, especially when a captive party-goer (Michael Bryant) matches his will and cunning against his captors.

Lovers and Other Strangers

Held over for a third and fairly unprecedented week at Kingston's Mayfair is this light, slick, wonderfully witty comedy about an Italian wedding. Every single, solitary member of the cast is likable (most are totally lovable), including Gig Young, Anne Jackson, Anne Meara, Bonnie Bedelia and Bea Arthur.

What's funny — and hilariously funny — about this

Italian wedding is that the boyfiring stored knowledge of living together for a year and a half — and then decide to get married. The result is one of the wackiest legal starts revealing locations of honeymoons ever dreamed up in a motion picture.

When his memory bank gets tripped by a moderator's question on a TV show and he starts revealing locations of gambling establishments that were stored in the man-made computer, the fun begins and the chase is on as hoods and kids mix it up in a wild melee.

The Computer Wore Tennis Shoes

It's Walt Disney week at the Rosendale Theatre, where "Computer," a turned-on comedy that takes good natured jabs at the generation gap and the electronically operated world, is now holding forth.

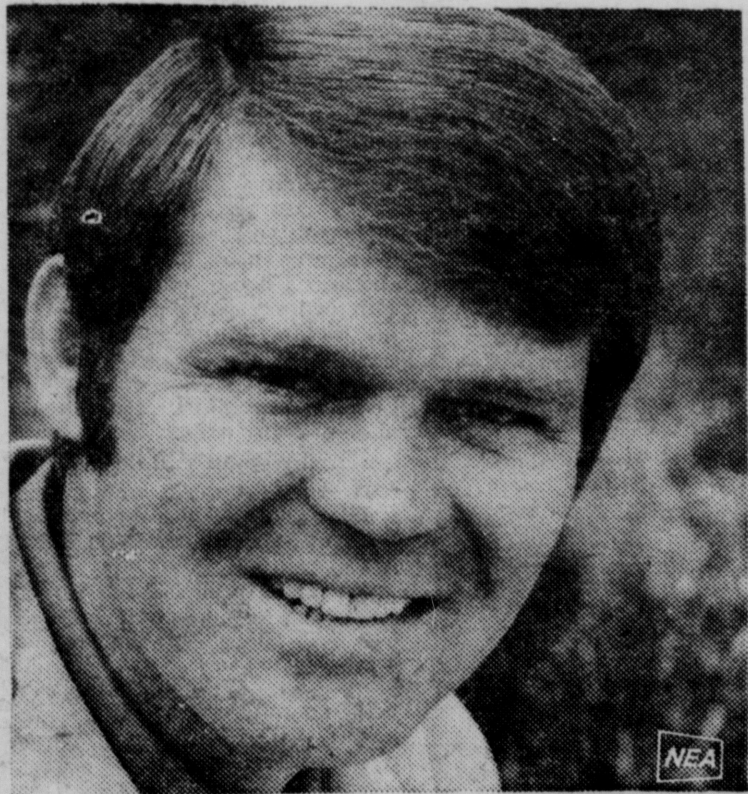

With Cesar Romero starring as A. J. Arno, a gangland chieftain hiding behind a cloak of respectability, and Joe Flynn as an uptight college dean, it has to do with a campus goof-off (Kurt Russell) Turning into a human computer when he's accidentally subjected to an electrified blast from a back

Joe

Held over yet again at the Roosevelt in Hyde Park is this film about the ultimate hard-hat; a fellow named Joe Curran (brilliantly portrayed by newcomer Peter Boyle), who loathes blacks, welfare, liberals and white kids on the protest kick.

By chance, factory worker Joe comes into contact with an

GLENN CAMPBELL stars with Kim Darby and Joe Namath in "NORWOOD," the film about two ex-servicemen and their misadventures. It's the next attraction at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre; is slated to open there on Wednesday, Dec. 9 on a double bill with "WUSA," Paul Newman's new film.

CHRISTMAS DESSERT AT SUNNYSIDE—A huge red satin ribbon and four bows adorn the dining table of author Washington Irving's Tarrytown home of Sunnyside during the Yule season. The Sunnyside table, restored to its 19th century appearance, is set for the dessert course with Irving's original plates and compotes, of Old Paris porcelain. In keeping with the era, holly is liberally used on the table.

Our Yule Heritages—300 Years Old

When Americans celebrate Christmas 1970 many of their customs and decorations will be the smooth blending of Dutch and English cultures.

Evergreens over the mantle, carols sung around the fire and Santa with his reindeer are all Christmas inheritances from the men and women who left their native Holland and England 200 to 300 years ago to settle the Hudson River valley.

Nowhere can the traditions be seen and enjoyed more pleasantly this holiday, beginning today, than at three landmarks which themselves played important roles in the development of New York State.

These historic sites are Washington Irving's home, Sunnyside, in Tarrytown; Philipsburg Manor, Upper Mills, in North Tarrytown; and Van Cortlandt Manor in Croton-on-Hudson.

All Restored

Each property has been restored to its era of greatest influence by Sleepy Hollow Restorations of Tarrytown. Sunnyside is the unusually stately mid-19th century home of America's first internationally recognized author, Irving, while Van Cortlandt is a handsome late 18th century manorial estate. Philipsburg now appears as it did in the early 1700s when it was an important gristmill-trading center.

The properties will be decorated for Christmas as they might have been in their greatest days. Sunnyside, the youngest of them, will be decorated in a mode more closely resembling today's Christmas because the mixing of earlier cultures had already begun by Irving's day.

If any one man might deserve credit for helping to shape the modern Christmas, that person is Irving. In his writings he combined some of the characteristics of the Dutch patron saint Sinterklaas with his English counterpart, Father Christmas.

Sinterklaas, a derivation of Saint Nicholas, was beloved by sailors all over Europe while Father Christmas was a happy, round-bellied figure in high boots.

In Irving's first important work, "Diedrich Knickerbocker's History of New York," Irving discussed the Christmas character loved by children.

One Night a Year

"The good St. Nicholas would often make his appearance," wrote Irving, "riding jollily among the tree tops, or over the roofs of houses, now and then drawing forth magnificent presents from his breeches pockets, and dropping them down the chimneys of his favorites. He never shows us the light of his countenance, nor even visits us, save one night a year, when he rattles down the chimney..."

As the years went by and Irving grew older his love for the holiday season intensified.

"Of all the festivals," he wrote, "Christmas awakens the strongest and most heartfelt associations. There is something in the very season of the year that gives a charm in the depth of winter, when nature lies deplored of charm, we turn for our gratifications to moral sources."

Once forced by his duties to stay abroad as envoy to the court of Spain, Irving worried how Christmas would be celebrated at his beloved Sunnyside.

"I hope you kept up Christmas in the usual style," he wrote his niece Sarah in 1843, "and that the cottage was decked with evergreens."

"You must not let my absence cause you relaxations in the old rules and customs of the cottage; everything must go on the same as it did when I was there."

In keeping with Irving's traditions a green wreath will hang on the front door of Sunnyside and a Christmas tree, trimmed with candles, lanterns, candy canes, sugar plums and strings of popcorn, will stand in the parlor. The dining room table will be set for holiday dessert while a great red satin ribbon will encircle it as was done in many old English homes.

Philipsburg Manor, built by Frederick Philipse in the 1680s, will reflect the early Dutch customs practiced when New York was New Netherland. The parlor will contain assorted samplings of sweetmeats, cookies, wine, punch, nuts and apples.

Probably the most unusual item will be a lilac branch in a jar of water nurtured carefully to bear leaves at the holiday season. The branch will rest on the hearth of the Manor House forerom, as the main room was called in earliest New York days.

The lilac recalls the old Hudson River Dutch saying, "the finer the foliage, the better the family fortunes in the new year."

On the room's table will be three oranges, a reminder of the legend about St. Nicholas' giving gold dowries to three destitute sisters.

Used for Hunting

In the late 1600s Van Cortlandt Manor, at the junction of the Hudson and Croton Rivers, was used by the Van Cortlandt family for hunting expeditions. By 1749 the Manor House had become the family's permanent home and about then was also headquarters for its 86,000-acre landholding.

In the American Revolution the Van Cortlandts were prominent patriots. Pierre was New York's first lieutenant governor and his son Philip attained the rank of brigadier general.

The Manor House will reflect its dual heritages from Holland and England. Huge spiced cookies in the form of initials of early Van Cortlandt children will grace the table in the Old Parlor, located in the house's lower level. The Dutch made these pastries particularly at Christmas.

In the living room on the upper floor the English influence will prevail. Suspended from the ceiling of the main hall will be a kissing bell fashioned from evergreens with appointments of candles and apples and a clapper of mistletoe.

Laurel and pine boughs will decorate the floor's several rooms. Foods served in the 18th century will be laid out in the formal dining room for the traditional day of New Year's visit. Such foods were white fruit cake, nuts, sweetmeats and madeira wine.

Woman's Role

On New Year's women remained home to greet callers as men called on neighbors and friends.

The holiday period for Sunnyside and Philipsburg Manor will end Jan. 3. Van Cortlandt Manor's season will continue until Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 9 and 10, when its annual Candlelight Tours are held from 4 to 7 p.m.

During Christmas week, Dec. 28 to 31, the three properties will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. All three will be closed Christmas and New Year's. Regular winter weekday hours are 12 noon to 4 p.m. while weekend hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Two films will be shown at the properties during the holiday period. Visitors to Philipsburg Manor can see the new color film "Lords of the Manor," which concerns the Philipse family and the development of Philipsburg Manor. Another color film, "December: Month of Children," will depict Christmas customs in foreign lands and be shown at Sunnyside.

Christmas Carols Ringing Out for 1970

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One of the Christmas albums with a lot of holiday spirit and joy is the two-LP set, "The American Family Album of Favorite Christmas Music," a reissue, on RCA. This has the Boston Pops on two sides and the Robert Shaw Chorale on two. The Boston Pops has a side for six bright songs, like "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and "Sleigh Ride;" and a side for "Nutcracker" excerpts, "Sleigh Ride" as written by Mozart, and the dream from "Hansel and Gretel."

The Robert Shaw Chorale has a side for carols and liner notes explain their origins, with more of them from America than we had realized, and a side for excerpts from Handel's "Messiah." The sound and the execution is excellent on this album.

Polydor, the label the Boston Pops is with now, has issued "A Christmas Festival" conducted by Arthur Fielder.

It starts with a 10-minute medley of carols, arranged by Leroy Anderson. There's nothing flashy in this, in fact the arrangements are quite subtle. It would be quality background music for an open house. Also on the album are Bach's lovely "Shepherd's Pastoral" and an instrumental "Hallelujah Chorus."

For children, the best one we heard this season is "Frosty the Snow Man," told by Jimmy Durante, on MGM. A story has been made from the song and it tells what Frosty does when he comes to life, his problems about staying cold and his adventures with a child friend, Karen. The song is used throughout the LP, on 14 and 12-minute sides.

A similar attempt, based on a song written in 1932, is "Santa Claus Is Comin' to Town," narrated by Fred Astaire, on MGM. Mickey Rooney is heard as Santa and Keenan Wynn as one of the bad guys.

This takes Santa from his babyhood, his rearing by the Kringle elves, all kinds of opposition, and explains why he goes down the chimney, why gifts are put into stockings, etc. This story seems to be stretching for its points; it doesn't fall as naturally, on adult ears anyway, as does "Frosty."

"Christmas with Ogden Nash," on Caedmon, one suspects, isn't for children at all. Side one is a 25-minute story, "The Christmas that Almost Wasn't," in rhyming verse, read by Nash. Some children may like the sound of the words, and some probably would lose the thread and tune out. One couplet is, "The gordion knot is easily scissorable. Go and make everybody miserable." It's an engaging story, though. The King's nephew, Evilard, has put the king in a dungeon and banned Christmas. The hero who puts things a-right is Nick Knack, age 8. Side two is 13 brief stories.

Good heart wafts from the playing of "The Williams Brothers Christmas Album" on Barnaby, as strongly as it wafts from tenderly cooked warm gingerbread. This is Andy Williams and his three brothers. Six songs on side one are arranged by Dick Williams, for brotherly harmony. Side two has a medley of 17 carols. The back of the jacket shows pictures through the years from the family album. If you like Andy, you'll love the Williams brothers.

One from the vault is "The Season's Best," on Columbia. Solid pop singers of the label each warble a song or a carol—Barbra Streisand, Jerry Vale, John Davidson, Robert Goulet, Jim Nabors, Andy Williams, Johnny Mathis, Tony Bennett. There's also Johnny Cash from the country, the Ray Conniff Singers and Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra.

The songs are the less frivolous ones, "Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire," "Winter Wonderland," etc.

"Christmas Is for Children," Richard Wolfe Children's Chorus, on Camden, has 19 songs, a bit shrilly sung but more on pitch and with better breath control than most children's choruses.

And there are albums for the fans of:

The Robert Shaw Chorale, "A Christmas Sing-In," RCA, with 27 carols, many of them not well known.

Tammy Wynette, "Christmas with Tammy," Epic, in her sweet country voice, in which on "Silent Night" doesn't sound country at all.

Charley Pride, "Christmas in my Home Town," RCA, songs sung pop-country, and his own arrangement of "Holy Night."

Elvis Presley, "Elvis' Christmas Album," mono, on Camden, in which "Santa Claus Is Back in Town" has an arrangement like "Blue Suede Shoes."

Ed Ames, "Christmas Is the Warmest Time of the Year," RCA, has five songs which aren't well known, and probably aren't great either, but Ames's commanding voice makes it a good album.

The Living Strings, "The Festive Sound of Christmas," Camden, and "Christmas with Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass," RCA, for people who like instrumental.

"Jose Feliciano," RCA, with a percussionist added to his voice and guitar, including the song "Feliz Navidad," which he wrote.

And Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors" has been reissued, mono, on Victrola. This is the original cast from 1951.

ELVIS PRESLEY'S Yuletide offering is titled "Elvis' Christmas Album" and includes his rendition of "Santa Claus Is Back in Town."

ED AMES features several not-so-well-known songs for holiday listening on his latest release, "Christmas Is the Warmest Time of the Year."

BARBRA STREISAND is one of the singers on "The Season's Best," a new album of holiday songs and carols.

CHARLIE PRIDE has a new album, "Christmas in My Home Town," with songs sung country-pop and his own arrangements of "Holy Night."

BILL LUHRS seems to be looking somewhere in the direction of the Sea of Tranquility during rehearsal break at State University College, New Paltz. He's featured in "The Man in the Moon," a delightful fantasy for children slated for holiday presentation by The New Paltz Players.

The Man in the Moon

It's a gala holiday production of Alan Cullen's "The Man in the Moon" for the New Paltz Theatre Arts Department. And it's less than a week now to launch time, as Professor Plum and his daughter, Flora, put the finishing touches to some last minute preparations for their flight to the world's night-time lantern on high.

Once there, they'll be in for a surprise when they meet up with the lovable moon people known as Toggles, and their equally lovable friend, Moon-calf.

Children of all ages (and adults, too, of course) will find immediate fascination in these comical and colorful moon creatures.

All the characters mentioned (and lots more) will be waiting to meet you and your family when the New Paltz Players of the State University College's Theatre Arts Department present "The Man in the Moon," a totally delightful children's fantasy. The play goes on Dec. 9 to 12 at 8 p.m. and Dec. 13 at 2 p.m. in the McKenna Theatre on campus.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1.50 for students, and $1 for children. Box office is now open and reservations can be made by calling 257-2192 any time between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tickets will also be available for purchase at the door one half hour before performance time. See you on the moon during the holidays!

A Troubadour-Harpist With a Virile Style

There will be an extraordinary musical program in store for Hudson Valley listeners when Gerald Goodman, troubadour-harpist, appears in concert Dec. 13 at Ascension Parish Hall, West Park. Goodman, a top professional artist, has been acclaimed by critics as one of the foremost harpists of our time.

Audiences, too, have been impressed with Goodman's imaginative programs, for the handsome young baritone is the only male performer who sings and accompanies on a concert harp. His sparkling and virile style is applied to a unique repertoire extending from medieval ballads to contemporary American pop. He has brought concert audiences to standing ovations with astonishing regularity.

A student of the renowned harpist Carlos Salzedo, Goodman has concertized widely throughout the U.S. and Canada. His appearances with leading orchestras in Carnegie Hall and frequent Town Hall recitals have been marked by capacity audiences.

A man of varied background, Goodman has had experience in acting, singing and instrumental performing. As a result, his style shows great versatility.

His programs have held wide appeal for all—the serious musician as well as the collegiate set, and he has established himself as an entertainer as well as performing artist.

Goodman will be appearing locally on the first SEMINAR CONCERT, an outgrowth of the Vocal Arts Seminars which have met with such success within recent weeks. TEMPO readers will want to plan now for this fine concert.

Poets and Performers

book, "Where Continents Meet," is set for spring publication; is a collection of African proverbs and photographs from her travels in West Africa. At work on another volume detailing the history of African customs and traditions, she has appeared in Amahl and the Night Visitors with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, in The Believers off-Broadway, in many New York night clubs, and toured as a singer with Voices, Inc.

An Acclaimed Othello

The Poets & Performers quartet also includes Norman Matlock, who has been heard in WNYC Radio's "Eyew" series, and who has performed on Broadway in "The Engagement Baby" and on Broadway in "Americana Pastorate." He was acclaimed for his performance of Othello with the National Shakespeare Company of Boston; has appeared at Cleveland's Karamu

House Theatre; wowed New York audiences earlier this year with the premiere performances of "Ameri/Blacka," a collection of poems and songs he wrote and performed in a one-man show that was later restaged this fall under the title, "A Random Sampler of Black." This talented troupe has appeared throughout the tri-state area since being organized by Green in 1969; is adept at performing and theatre-media. The quartet has appeared in theatres, on campuses and in community programs; currently conducts creative workshops in various Manhattan public schools. Matlock commutes regularly to Poughkeepsie's Dutchess Community College where he is a member of the part-time faculty.

A $2,500 Grant For 'Maverick'

In keeping with the spirit of the holiday season, chairman Henry Maust and the board of directors of the Maverick Sunday Concerts have extended thanks to Governor Nelson Rockefeller and the New York State Council on the Arts for a 1970 grant of twenty-five hundred dollars to be used as a fund in defraying artist expenses.

As the first state grant ever received by the Maverick Concerts, it has been welcomed with open arms (we feel sure) by the professional artists, who for the past fifty-five years have graced the Woodstock stage for little more than the pleasure afforded by the appreciative Ulster County audiences and the prestige of appearing at "the Maverick."

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

No time like week-after-Pilgrim's-feast to talk turkey—leftover, that is. With year-end drawin' near, it's time to rummage through '70 accumulation, sweep-the-heap together, and get set for "Christmas-Present."

Amid pyramid of old-hat tidbits: Who is WGHQ female employe who went on food orgy each week on returning from reducing class (and after sheddin' 47 pounds, too). No, it's NOT Jim Thompson; we said FEMALE. Which area teacher travelled to South America during summer and was first platinum-haired woman seen by tribal chief, who urged her to be his queen? Understand another jaunt included Orient, Australia and, perhaps, an even better offer?

Who is public relations gent at IBM with office sign: I am an important Catholic. In case of accident notify a BISHOP. Which County Office vet, dining with family at Stockade Restaurant, was asked: "Dad, how does juke box work?"—and replied, "Like you, son, when I pay it."—Which Hurleyites ended summer sippin' sauternes during Hudson Valley Winery Tour in Highland? Hic!

What middleaged couple strollin' hand'n hand during final stages of Mum Festival in Seamon Park was overheard to say: "I'm gonna fix-up our garden like this." She: "I dare you." Which female Freeman reporter when told: "In that fur hat, you look like white owl in TV commercial" remarked "Who-o-o me!"

Which East Chester By-Pass couple were guests of Cynthia Lowry at California during filming of Hillbillies, Petticoat Junction?.. Who is popular Kingston engineer who bought himself a wig to shock his son into getting haircut?.. Which Mr. and Mrs. received plot-in-cemetery as wedding gift? Talk 'bout practicality!

Did you know spaghetti-dinner-diners at Coleman School's annual event were eatin' on what used to be first, second, third holes of old Wiltwyck Golf Course? Now you do! And would you believe 1500 balls? Not golf balls, meatballs. Besides sparkling Christmas trimmings at Carriage House do you know another reason open house was swamped with appreciative viewers? Why, Ruth Maines tasty homemade cheese cake, naturally. It's an annual treat and the public knows it.

Which well-known county couple—kin of local beauty queen—tried recuperatin' at Dutch Rathskeller one recent Thursday from Florida vacation which was termed a "wallapaloozer"? Who were the area mom and pop of multiple-birth-offspring makin' banquet scene at Capri dressed like Bobsey Twins?.. What Alcazar Avenue redhead called My Hairdresser to have "kinks" removed and got Albany Avenue Garage?

What local sportsman vacationing at Cap Cod was missed so much by buddies that they chartered bus to surprise him—and reunion almost got them all committed. What Dietz Court couple had been feedin' cat in their garage 'til they discovered it was black-with-whitestrife. Who was that parked in front of St. Mary's Church in car bearing license VRP? A Very Religious Person, no doubt. 9 out of 10 doctors recommend aspirin: do you know which one prefers headaches?

Nightclub Maccabee Has 'Victor Borge' Of Israeli Comedy

He's been headlined always delighting audiences throughout the country as "Israel's answer to Victor Borge," and the comparison is indeed apt. For Benny Berman, Israeli singer and story teller, is a talented performer with a guitar and an anecdote.

Berman will be the featured entertainer at "Nightclub Maccabee," the gala affair being sponsored Saturday, Dec. 12 by Kingston's Jewish Community Council, in conjunction with the three synagogue sisterhoods. The big entertainment event will kick off at 8:30 p.m. at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, Kingston.

An evening of fine entertainment is promised by Berman, who has performed across the U.S. in many hotels, nightclubs and supper clubs—

Also featured at the Council's Maccabee affair will be Ron Saunders and his Novo International folk dance group, performing several lively numbers.

Reservations for the Dec. 12 gala can be made by contacting the Jewish Community Council office, 96 Maiden Lane, Kingston, or by calling 338-8131.

Post-Season Games

ABC has nine post-season college football games scheduled: Liberty Bowl, Boardwalk Bowl, Pecan Bowl, Grantland Rice Bowl, Camellia Bowl on a regional basis Dec. 12; North-South Shrine Game, Dec. 25; Sugar Bowl, Jan. 1; East-West Shrine game, Jan. 2; Hula Bowl, Jan. 9.

MOVIES

ad-agency executive far removed from his own beer and barroom environs. The murder of the executive's daughter's hippie-lover is the catalyst that brings Joe, the ad man and the audience face to face with some very real and very ugly truths about middle-class America today.

A brilliant and fascinating drama, "Joe" is one of the year's best movies; should be seen by all means.

Performance

Definitely far-out is "Performance," the movie now showing at the Academy Theatre in New Paltz. The over-thirty contingent will have difficulty following the plot, but the night we saw it, the younger generation seemed to dig it the most.

Probably had something to do with the fact that Mick Jagger, he of the sensuous lips and pop star fame, plays a starring role as a singer who has copped out and become a sort of recluse in a cavernous house in Notting Hill.

Into his tight little retirement world (he's not so much a recluse that he doesn't enjoy life away from it all with two nubile girls) comes a murderer on the run. Looking for a hideout, the hood, the very talented James Fox finds it in Mick's pad. Before all the masochism is over, Mick has corrupted Jim and vice versa, and we couldn't make heads or tails of the incomprehensible (to us, at least) plot. The kids however, seemed to have no trouble at all understanding all the paranoia and imagery.

Women in Love

At the Lyceum in Red Hook is this extremely beautiful film version of the D. H. Lawrence novel about emotional involvement between two men and two women.

Its lush backgrounds are unbelievable beautiful, its philosophies deeply moving, its strange love stories intriguingly intertwined.

Ripe and rich, it has been done brilliantly and in excellent taste; is a credit to its producer and director. Honors, too, must go to an excellent cast, including those fine British actors (Alan Bates of "Georgy Girl") and (Oliver Reed of "Oliver").

Therese and Isabel

Back for a rerun at the New Paltz Cinema is this film—the one about love among the lesbians that created such a stir awhile back. Two attractive girls from broken families become friends at a boarding school. Before their student days are over, the friendship has developed into a homosexual affair. There is some artistic merit to the film and the story is told in an interesting flashback format, but it's hardly Yuletide entertainment fare.

On the double bill at Paltz is "Her, She, Him," which sounds like it might be "Therese and Isabel" with a male tossed in for sexual flavoring. We don't intend to fork up the price of admission to find out, however. Having sat through the lesbian tangle once, we have no desire to play Peeping Tom on the girls a second time around.

(By TOBIE GEERTSEMA)

OLIVER REED is a wealthy coal mine owner's son in "Women in Love," the period film based on a D. H. Lawrence novel. It's on screen now at Red Hook's Lyceum; is marked by brilliant performances by a superlative cast

Namath Western Scores 'Firsts'

LONDON (UPI) —Joe Namath, Gardner and Dyke math's first western "The Last Rebel" has another first going for it beside the debut on the score. The serious side of Lord's horseback of the New York Jets football star. For the first time that anyone can remember the background music of the film is scored for a rock group playing with a symphony orchestra. Producer Larry Spangler signed Jon Lord of the Deep Purple group to write the music completely without ego and not with Tony Ashton of the the latter actually providing the rock element in the score. The serious side of Lord's score was provided by the 70-piece Royal Imperial Blackpool Symphony with Lord conducting. "The Last Rebel" will be released in the United States shortly before Christmas. Spangler said he found Namath contrary to reports, "a cool guy at all difficult to work with."

ERNESTLY SPEAKING

HOME FOR XMAS!

ROBERTO'S will be closed Thursday evening, December 24, and all day Christmas Day, to give our staff the opportunity of enjoying a Family Holiday of their own. To help spread as much culinary cheer as we can during that Holiday Week, we will open on Wednesday, December 23rd. Every other Holiday (don't recall any falling on a Wednesday) and every weekend of the year we'll be on hand to serve you, so I'm sure you won't begrudge our folks their own Christmas Holiday. And a Merry Christmas for you, too!

SCENE AT ROBERTO'S

Those who may have dined with us this past week or so may have noted the new "Roberto's Memo" on the tables: that's a thing I've worked out for getting the real lowdown on "who's Here and Why". Instead of trusting to a leaky memory or not being able to get around to talk to everybody. With this Memo, I won't overlook anyone.

Ooops... is my face red! I didn't notice that, in the "colyum" a few weeks ago, Jack Turc's name was misspelled... a typographical error I should have spotted! Fortunately, Jack wasn't too offended to be back last week, when John and Barbara Shellenberger were the Dinner Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack TURC. (Hooray... the linotyper set it right: am I forgiven, Jack? * * * Forgot to mention that Miss Catherine Millard celebrated at ROBERTO'S with a Birthday Luncheon!

More and more diners are getting in on the "Saturday Soiree" in the Cocktail Lounge! For instance, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Brinnier, celebrating with an Anniversary Dinner, stayed until the wee hours to join the happy gang around the Hammond; and they contributed some beautiful singing to the festivities! * * * Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Lawlis were back to join the fun, and to sing a few of the great "oldies." * * * Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shannon were on hand, and needless to say, Ed did right by the crowd with his Irish tunes. * * * I don't have to report that the "Saturday Night Clambake and Renertory Society" was on hand, with Joe Amato doing a fancy dance! * * * With Mark Garrison at the ole Hammond, the music never stops; neither does the fun for those who like to sing along, or get into the act! * * * Let me remind you again that ROBERTO'S Cocktail Lounge is separated from the Dining Room; you don't have to dine here to visit the Lounge... although, where else are you going to find a Dinner Value that compares with ROBERTO'S?

THANKS, THANQUES & THANX

for them kind words! What else can I say to a patron who can write such a beautiful tribute as this one for "Augie." Maybe I'd better make him the editor of the "colyum"... he writes about ROBERTO'S better than I can. Hear this:—

"House of Talent"

It seems increasingly difficult in our present day and age, to break away from the hustle and bustle of everyday responsibility.

Most of us would consider ourselves lucky indeed, if the pressures of progress could be smothered by relaxing conversation and laughter. A combination very hard to find in our computerized society of today. When such a place is found, I feel there are many who would like to know of its existence. The place I speak of is "Roberto's" which is located in Fort Ewen, N. Y., overlooking the Hudson. One has a fantastic view of the distant country side, while being served excellent food in the spacious dining room. Or maybe a comfortable seat in the cocktail lounge, for an evening of unexpected pleasure, while enjoying a mixed drink hard to match anywhere.

The beautiful sound of the Hammond organ being played by "Mark" who fills many requests for your listening pleasure. A gracious welcome from the Maitre'de, who by the way, is known to the regulars by the name of "Joseph;" at times he can be persuaded to perform his fancy foot work, to the fantastic sound of the Hammond. Many talented people can be found at "Roberto's" and often pleasurable entertainment can be enjoyed by all. Of course, all this would not be possible without a great guy named "Ernest" who is co-proprietor (with Roberto) of this beautiful establishment, greeting everyone with a warm hearted smile. Just don't take my word for it. Just spend an evening at "Roberto's" and you too may find its memorable effects after a visit to the "House of Talented People."

THE COMMERCIAL

In my book, Department Stores are smart advertisers; they've got something to sell, they've got a price on it, they lay it on the line in their ads, and leave it up to you to see if you can do better. To take a leaf out of their book, ROBERTO'S tells you what you get for your dinner money:—

You start with a pre-Dinner Cocktail of your choice, ON THE HOUSE! You choose any Appetizer or Soup (could be Shrimp Cocktail, Baked Clams, Escargots, Onion Soup) with nary an extra charge. With your Entree you get a Baked Potato (or other choice) and Vegetable, with a Tossed Green Salad. For Dessert, your choice again! (and again no "Extra" charge!) Top that off with your Beverage, and you've had an elegant meal at a price dictated by your Entree... from $5.50 to $8.

Like I say (yoo-hoo, Mr. Winston!) Champagne costs more than Cider; Filet Mignon costs more than Filet of Sole; but whatever you choose, fish, flesh or fowl, the fixings are the same, regardless of the cost of your Entree! That's what I call democracy... there are no second class diners at ROBERTO'S

And that's our story; as the Department Stores imply: if you know where you can do better, Happy Eatings!
